'Trail Boss' Becomes Tour Guide For AIC

By GLENN KREUSCHER

The American Institute of Cooperation had a real trail boss, a Lancaster county cattleman used to handling a lot of "heads," but the cattle variety instead of the near 1,000 youths that he rode herd over Tuesday.

The cattleman, Harvey Damrow of Roca, outfitted in familiar western clothes, was the man calling the signals as 24 buses were loaded for a youth tour from Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

Almost every state in the nation was represented by youth delegates at the tour headed for Morrill Hall, the Capitol, a Lancaster county farm and a stop at the sprawling Equity Union Grain Co.

"You can't tell much about the neighborhood unless you can get out and visit places, this gives us a chance to really tell the folks back home something about Nebraska," said a Minnesota youth.

Damrow remained his usual calm self as he loaded his "charges." Asked if this was the biggest load he ever "saw off," he said, "Yes, we have loaded 6 semi-loads at the farm at one time but we had to go to town for the experience of getting 24 loads away at the same time."

He had some kind words for the young men and women that followed his directions. "These boys and girls represent the outstanding youth that stand in the best position to answer the problems of agriculture in the years ahead. They are the kind that will get the job done."

BERLIN SAFETY SOUGHT

U.S., Britain Want Link To New Pact

Moscow (AP) — The United States and Britain Tuesday opened their bid to link communist guarantees of Western interests in Berlin to Premier Khrushchev's East-West non-aggression pact proposal, diplomatic sources reported.

The Western proposal was put forward by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home in exploratory talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, these sources said.

The two Western foreign policy chiefs also were reported to have told Gromyko they would not be able to negotiate formally on the pact until they have completed consultations with their NATO allies.

Not Prepared

Conference sources said Rusk told Gromyko that the Western allies were not prepared to talk business on a nonaggression pact until the 15-nation NATO alliance makes up its collective mind on the matter.

His position was described as following closely that of President Kennedy who told a news conference Aug. 1 that "one of our interests in a non-aggression pact would be greater security for Berlin."

Details of the proposed link between Berlin and that pact are not expected to be divulged until the completion of NATO consultations.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman said in Washington Tuesday Britain and the United States are thinking in terms of unilateral declarations of nonaggression from both sides.

It was not clear whether this formula would prove acceptable to the Russians or to French President Charles de Gaulle, who has said France will not commit aggression and hence he sees no purpose in a nonaggression agreement.

The 3 foreign ministers who signed the nuclear test ban treaty and toasted it at a Kremlin reception Monday spent most of Tuesday together.

Next Step

They began their talks on the next step at the Soviet Foreign Ministry, continued them at a lunch given by Gromyko, and then had a two-hour conference at a government reception house in the Lenin Hills.

The 3 appeared in amiable spirits later at a reception at U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler's Spasso House residence.

About 500 Russians put on a demonstration of the "mir-idruzha" (peace and friendship) mood prevailing here by applauding and cheering Rusk and Home as they left the foreign ministry building for lunch.

Probing Warily

But reports of the talks indicated that the two sides were warily probing in the "step by step" advance toward solutions of cold war differences advocated by Khrushchev.

The 3 ministers also were reported to have opened preliminary discussions on Khrushchev's proposal for stationing inspection teams in East and West Germany to guard against surprise attack from either side.

Rusk was said to have indicated that the United States was interested in extending the inspection areas to include East and West Europe, the United States and the Soviet Union.

Earlier discussion in this subject had suggested Alaska and nearby Siberia as a good place to start.

The U.S. secretary and some members of his delegation will fly to Leningrad Tuesday for a sightseeing tour of the former czarist capital.

East German communist boss Walter Ulbricht was reported to have flown to the Soviet Union Tuesday to begin a Black Sea vacation. But it was deemed unlikely that Rusk and Ulbricht would meet.

Rusk expected to fly back to Moscow Thursday, pick up Gromyko and continue on to visit Khrushchev at his Black Sea vacation dacha in Gagra. Rusk is scheduled to leave for Washington Saturday.

Cooperatives, Like Farms, Are Decreasing In Number

... BUT REMAINING ONES BUSIER

There is a parallel between farms and cooperatives, both are getting fewer in number but the remaining ones are getting larger and are handling more business.

Glenn E. Heltz, deputy governor and director of Cooperative Bank Service, Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D.C., told American Institute of Cooperation members Tuesday that farm cooperatives will almost certainly make greater and more rapid changes in the next decade than they have in the past 10 years.

Heltz said it is reasonable to predict that there will be fewer cooperatives to serve farmers; the total number listed by Farmer Cooperative Service was 9,163 in 1961.

Surprised
"I would not be surprised if there are only 6,000 cooperatives by 1970. But 50% more business was done in 1961 than in 1950, and during the same period these cooperatives increased their share of off-the-farm business," he said.

When a declining rural population and larger farms find less need for each town to have a cooperative, how is it decided which co-ops take over the others business?

This is one of the questions that was given special attention in a Cooperative Mergers and Consolidations session of the AIC Tuesday.

Feasible

Cooperative leaders explain that it is now feasible for farm supply retail points to serve relatively large geographic areas with some commodities. Efficiency has been the goal of a research program that may well result in a group approach to cooperative mergers, say the planners.

Cooperatives that become large enough and the membership well enough informed can look to pooling agricultural products, a practice that spokesmen for cooperatives identify as having "fine advantages."

"Until agriculture, through cooperatives with government enabling legislation, can become large enough in any one product or industry, it cannot expect to enter the third stage of keying production to effective demand," said Glenn S. Fox, assistant general manager, Farmers Union Cooperative Marketing Assn., Kansas City, Mo.

Understand

Fox said cooperative members should also understand that more business growth takes place through mergers and acquisitions than through internal generation of capital.

Fox in outlining what happens with a consolidation of cooperatives said that larger cooperatives can provide more diversification, greater ability to bear risks, higher stability of employment and a larger foundation for growth. The AIC has decided to hold its 1964 meeting in Lansing, Mich., and the 1965 get-together in Columbia, Mo. A bid for the 1967 annual meeting has been made by Toronto, Canada. It is under consideration.

The second day of the AIC confab was concluded with a general session with presentations by representatives of 14 youth groups that were interviewed by Bruce Davies, president, National Assn. of Radio and TV Farm Directors, KFAB, Omaha. States represented in the youth interview were: Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North Carolina, Illinois, Kansas, Texas, Florida, and two representatives from Canada.

CPPD Post To Barber; Could Succeed Schacht

By DON WALTON

Star Staff Writer
Appointment of Wayne E. Barber of Norfolk as executive director of Consumers Public Power District raised speculation Tuesday that Barber may be in line to succeed General Manager Ray Schacht next year.

Schacht, who has headed CPPD's operations since 1949, will retire July 31, 1964.

Announcement of Barber's appointment and his resignation as a member of the Consumers board of directors, effective Aug. 15, was made Tuesday through a news release.

The executive director is a new position within Consumers, and was described by a CPPD official as "people-oriented."

Barber's duties will include activities in industrial development, public relations, advertising and promotion, it was understood. These are some of the responsibilities now undertaken by Schacht. Transfer of these functions to Barber will thus free Schacht to concentrate his labors on CPPD operations and the time-consuming round of negotiations and meetings among other power agencies and with the Nebraska Power Review Board. A CPPD official said no salary has yet been set for Barber.

Barber, 48, a Norfolk businessman, has served on the Consumers board of directors since 1956.

Formerly with Johnson & Johnson Co. in Michigan, Illinois and Pennsylvania, Barber is currently chairman of the Norfolk Industrial Action Committee and a member of the board of directors of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce.

A graduate of the University of South Dakota, he is a veteran of World War II with service in the Mediterranean as a PT boat captain.

Barber served as president of Consumers board from 1959-61.

Schacht has been engaged in electric utility operation and engineering in Nebraska for more than 40 years.

Base Chiefs To Instruct On 'Rights'

Washington (UPI)—The Defense Department has instructed base commanders in 15 Southern and border states to inform military families of their "constitutional right" to have their children attend integrated schools, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Assistant Defense Secretary Norman S. Paul sent a memorandum to the Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries outlining steps to be taken to assist in having military families' children entered in non-segregated schools if they so wish.

It also discussed legal actions they may take "to secure constitutional rights protecting against any assignments on a racial basis." The instruction applied to the school year starting next month.

Paul's memorandum was dated July 15 but was made public only Tuesday in response to press inquiries.

It was dispatched to the services through base commanders in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Oklahoma.

In his memorandum, Paul said it was Defense Department policy to have equal treatment for all servicemen and "to seek to secure similar non-discriminatory treatment for servicemen and their dependents in the communities in which they live."

To carry out the policy, he said base commanders in the 15 named states would immediately take two steps:

—obtain from local school boards the procedures for assignment and transfer of children to public schools on a non-racial basis.

—advise parents of the "constitutional right of their children to be assigned to school without regard to race."

Parents who want their children in non-segregated schools will be informed by base commanders of local procedures for assignment and transfer.

Johnson Captures Slim Primary Lead

Jackson, Miss. (AP)—Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson, who campaigned as a militant segregationist who would stand up for Mississippi, held to a slim lead Tuesday night in early returns from Democratic primary balloting for governor.

Johnson took over the lead from former Gov. J. P. Coleman with about 10% of the expected 450,000 votes counted and held his margin for the next several hours. Young Charles Sullivan remained a close third.

With 706 of the state's 1,882 precincts reporting, Johnson had 32,212 votes to 26,599 for Coleman and 24,216 for Sullivan.

The returns were mostly scattered from all sections of the state and confirmed predictions of a close race. The 3 leaders were all veteran campaigners who had made previous races for governor. Observers predicted it would be Wednesday before a firm trend could be established.

Gov. Ross Barnett, who headed the administration in which Johnson served, was prohibited by state law from seeking re-election. He took no part in the campaign, which was based largely on widespread anti-Kennedy feelings.

Civil rights-centered campaigning and Negro "vote-in" demonstrations spurred a heavy turnout in many sections of this Deep South state. The turnout and the long ballot—everything from governor to constable—indicated close races may not be decided until late Wednesday.

Before a dozen precincts were in Coleman, a 49-year-old Ackerman attorney who was governor from 1956-60, and Johnson, a 47-year-old Hattiesburg lawyer making his fourth bid for governor, had seen-sawed and Sullivan, a 38-year-old Clarksdale lawyer, had held the lead once.

The fourth candidate, 65-year-old welder Robert Mason of Magee, was not a serious contender.

All 4 candidates campaigned as strong segregationists and opponents of the Kennedy administration's civil rights program.

If no candidate gets a majority, the two high men will enter a runoff Aug. 27.

The vote-in demonstrations were reported in several areas under a law permitting those wrongly omitted from poll lists to vote by affidavit. However, Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson has ruled such votes would be legally worthless.

Duvalier Forces Battle Against Haitian Rebels

Port au Prince, Haiti (AP)—President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier's Haitian forces have swung into action against the Haitian exile rebel contingent that invaded Haiti's north coast, authoritative sources said Tuesday night.

The invading rebels meanwhile were reported advancing in two columns southwestward from the Cap Haitien area.

The government said the rebel attack was mounted in the neighboring and hostile Dominican Republic and came by land rather than by sea from an unidentified island as the rebel command contended.

Moreover the government said, the invasion began Sunday instead of Monday as the rebels had said.

Sources in Port au Prince said Duvalier counter-measures against the invasion began with an airlift of at least 150 men Monday from the capital area in the south to the vicinity of Cap Haitien, Haiti's second city and Atlantic port 90 miles north of the capital. They were ferried in twin-engine transport planes, the sources said.

The original invasion force was estimated by Haitian sources at 300 men, but reports from the rebel command spokesman at Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital, said it has been picking up Haitian army deserters as reinforcements inside Haiti.

The apparent aim of the invaders was to cut off the whole north coast and northwest Haiti, across the Windward Passage from Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Haiti told the Organization of American States (OAS) and the United Nations Security Council that it had confirmed the invasion by about 300 men in the vicinity of Ouanaminthe, just across the border from the Dominican town of Dajabon, about 100 miles northeast of Port au Prince.

'Organized in Dominican'

The Duvalier government charged flatly that the invasion was organized in the Dominican Republic — although Dominican President Juan Bosch has repeatedly insisted that his country must stay out of any involvement in armed conflict with Duvalier.

Port au Prince sources said the original rebel invasion took place at 5 a.m. Sunday at Derae village, a few miles from Fort Liberté and about 30 miles east of Cap Haitien.

Bounty Put On Valachi

Washington (AP)—The underworld of organized crime—which frequently carries out such chores for little or no pay—has set a $100,000 bounty on the head of Joseph Valachi. He talked.

"If we let him out on the street he'd be dead in half an hour," a government source said Tuesday, reporting the latest item from the underworld grapevine about the price on Valachi's head.

Valachi, serving a life term for murder, was a member of the nationwide syndicate he calls "Cosa Nostra," which literally means "our thing," and represents the current version of the Mafia in this country.

Blood Oath Described

He himself had described the blood oath—"If I talk I'm dead" taken by the members of Cosa Nostra.

Valachi's whereabouts is a closely kept secret. "We're going to keep him alive," one informant said. "We don't know what we're going to do with him, but we're going to keep him in a safe place."

His testimony, which he spilled to federal agents over a year of interrogation and which he will relate to senators later, provided what Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy termed "the biggest intelligence breakthrough yet in combating organized crime in the United States."

Potential Weak Spot

Combined with the Justice Department's increased pressure on the $40-billion-a-year organized crime industry, it has lead investigators to other potential weak spots in the barrier of secrecy surrounding the nationwide syndicate.

And it was this unprecedented glimpse at the inner workings of the syndicate that marked Valachi for execution in the crime world.

He described the Cosa Nostra in detail and put his finger on the bosses of the organization's ruling families across the nation.

Inside Story

He provided an inside story of the Apalachin crime convention of 1957. As the overlord of the crime corporation he named Vito Genovese, 66, now serving a 15-year narcotics sentence in the Atlanta Penitentiary. "Officials hope Genovese's grasp on the top spot—which he reportedly maintains even from prison—will be weakened by Valachi's disclosures.

They made some details of the intelligence breakthrough public in hopes of alerting citizens to the growing threat around them.

The Justice Department had long suspected some of the facts which Valachi confirmed. They felt, for instance, that New York—with its 5 ruling crime families—and Chicago, with its closed, powerful syndicate headed by Sam Giancana, are the strongest bastions of Cosa Nostra in the United States. And they had long believed that Genovese was the master of at least the New York crime world.

But some surprises were in store for investigators as they questioned the nervous, furtive Valachi.

No Trouble

"We were surprised at the cheapness of getting someone bumped off," one informant said. "When the man at the top wants a job done, he has no trouble letting out the contract. There's always someone who will do it—and for peanuts, too," for little or no pay.

The swarthy, stocky Italian was described as "never at ease, always looking around the room," by one official who interviewed him.

"He spoke in broken English, and very haltingly. He kept saying he was doing something that never had been done before," this man said.

Valachi was in the Atlanta prison with Genovese on narcotics charges when he killed a fellow inmate because he felt the man had been chosen to execute him.

Extra Importance

Government investigators placed extra importance on Valachi's disclosures because he was the first insider to talk openly about the organization.

"You can't conduct an effective fight against something like this unless you know the strengths and weaknesses of the opposition," one official explained. "Valachi has opened a whole new world of information up to us."

It was not known what the government would do—if anything—for Valachi in exchange for his cooperation.

"He hasn't asked for anything," one official said. "He knows if we let him out on the street he'd be dead in half an hour."

U.S. Warns ECM It Will Retaliate For Tariff Boosts

Washington (AP)—The European Common Market was put on notice Tuesday that if it doesn't call off sharp boosts on U.S. poultry products the United States will retaliate til-for-tat.

U.S. concessions on Common Market exports will be withdrawn in equal measure, said Christian A. Herter, chief U.S. trade negotiator.

He announced in a statement that public hearings will be held next month to help the government select from a list of 19 commodities those on which higher tariffs might be imposed. The major import item listed is wine.

But a spokesman for Herter's office said if the European Common Market changes its position, the United States would be happy to halt its proceeding and look toward what he called restoration of a balance of concessions.

Herter said a gradual increase in tariffs on U.S. poultry products from 4.9 cents a pound to the present 13.43 cents has "severely curtailed" overseas sales, mainly in West Germany.

K's Tactics Unchanged, Nixon Says

London (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon, appearing relaxed and well-rested after an 8-week vacation in Europe, said Tuesday the partial nuclear test ban treaty indicates a thaw in the cold war.

But he warned, "we've been burned before by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev."

The former vice president spoke to reporters before he left London with his wife, Pat, and their two daughters, Patricia and Julie, for New York by plane.

"Although there seems to be a thaw in the cold war," Nixon said, "I am not as optimistic about the test ban treaty as many Western leaders."

"I think we've been burned before—once with the spirit of Geneva and the other time with the spirit of Vienna."

Earlier Overtures

Nixon was referring to earlier peace overtures by Khrushchev which never materialized—in Geneva when Khrushchev met with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and in Vienna when he conferred with President Kennedy.

Nixon said he "welcomed the treaty, but the fact remains that Khrushchev's cold war activities have not changed. Subversion, espionage and support of communist fronts in Europe, Africa, Asia and Latin America are still his main goals."

In other comment, Nixon told newsmen:

"I think any non-aggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact nations is out of the question."

Common Sport

—He still is firmly against U.S. recognition of Communist China, but warned "we may be coming up against a greater danger there 10 or 15 years from now. China cannot be ignored in the future."

—"The common sport in the Western world seems to be to kick (French President Charles) de Gaulle around, and the only thing he seems to be guilty of is that he is pro-French."

In all of his statements, Nixon said he was speaking as "a private citizen," not as a spokesman for the Republican Party.

North Rhodesian Religious Group To Demonstrate

Ndola, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—A Northern Rhodesian religious group plans demonstrations at segregated churches along the lines of Negro sit-ins at American drug stores and lunch counters.

A spokesman at a copper-belt Christian youth conference said Tuesday:

"A number of churches profess to be integrated, but in actual fact they are not. We will carry the campaign into our own churches first, then go to the Dutch Reformed Church, which admits segregation."

The decision to stage demonstrations was taken by the 68 delegates to the conference from Anglican, Roman Catholic, Methodist, Baptist and Seventh Day Adventist communities.

Senate Passes Military Pay Hike

Washington (AP)—The Senate overwhelmingly passed Tuesday a bill for a hefty pay boost for most of the persons now serving in the nation's fighting forces. The vote was unanimous—84-0.

Only recruits and lowest ranking privates and apprentice seamen with less than two years service would fail to benefit from the first general military pay boost since 1958.

Reservists, National Guardsmen and those already drawing military retirement would share in the increases which are estimated to cost taxpayers $1,238,526,000 additional annually.

More Attractive

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., floor manager for the complex measure, said it is designed to make military careers more attractive to the skilled and younger officers, both commissioned and noncommissioned, among the more than 2.6 million on active duty with the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

The measure now goes back to the House which in May approved a similar bill. Several differences are expected to be reconciled later.

The larger pay would become effective Oct. 1 under the Senate version.

Hostile Fire Pay

Both bills provide for a new hostile fire pay, similar to the wartime extra combat pay. It would be $55 extra a month for those exposed to death or injury, such as the fighting now underway in South Viet Nam.

The House had voted to make this extra pay retroactive to Jan. 1, 1961, but the Senate eliminated this.

In an effort to retain more doctors and dentists in the military services, the Senate would increase their present extra pay at 6 and 10-year points by $50 and $100. The House had no such provision.

The Senate bill would give the Secretary of Defense authority to decide about "foreign duty pay" which now ranges from $8 to $22.50 a month for enlisted personnel.

Turn to Charity

The House had eliminated such pay for duty in Hawaii, now part of the Union, but retained it for Alaska, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

An Associated Press survey Tuesday showed that thousands of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine enlisted men have had to turn to charity because they are unable to make ends meet on their government income.

Service-affiliated relief organizations have paid out millions of dollars to help military families obtain such basic needs as food and clothing. Some, particularly those with several children, have qualified and drawn state welfare payments.

-SYNDICATE ANGRY-
Bounty Put On Valachi

Washington (AP)—The underworld of organized crime—which frequently carries out such chores for little or no pay—has set a $100,000 bounty on the head of Joseph Valachi. He talked.

"If we let him out on the street he'd be dead in half an hour," a government source said Tuesday, reporting the latest item from the underworld grapevine about the price on Valachi's head.

Valachi, serving a life term for murder, was a member of the nationwide syndicate he calls "Cosa Nostra," which literally means "our thing," and represents the current version of the Mafia in this country.

Blood Oath Described
He himself had described the blood oath—"If I talk I'm dead" taken by the members of Cosa Nostra.

Valachi's whereabouts is a closely kept secret. "We're going to keep him alive," one informant said. "We don't know what we're going to do with him, but we're going to keep him in a safe place."

His testimony, which he spilled to federal agents over a year of interrogation and which he will relate to senators later, provided what Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy termed "the biggest intelligence breakthrough yet in combating organized crime in the United States."

Potential Weak Spot
Combined with the Justice Department's increased pressure on the $40-billion-a-year organized crime industry, it has lead investigators to other potential weak spots in the barrier of secrecy surrounding the nationwide syndicate.

And it was this unprecedented glimpse at the inner workings of the syndicate that marked Valachi for execution in the crime world.

He described the Cosa Nostra in detail and put his finger on the bosses of the organization's ruling families across the nation.

Inside Story
He provided an inside story of the Apalachin crime convention of 1957. As the overlord of the crime corporation he named Vito Genovese, 66, now serving a 15-year narcotics sentence in the Atlanta Penitentiary. Officials hope Genovese's grasp on the top spot—which he reportedly maintains even from prison—will be weakened by Valachi's disclosures.

The Justice Department had long suspected some of the facts which Valachi confirmed. They felt, for instance, that New York—with its 5 ruling crime families—and Chicago, with its closed, powerful syndicate headed by Sam Giancana, are the strongest bastions of Cosa Nostra in the United States. And they had long believed that Genovese was the master of at least the New York crime world.

But some surprises were in store for investigators as they questioned the nervous, furtive Valachi.

No Trouble
"We were surprised at the cheapness of getting someone bumped off," one informant said. "When the man at the top wants a job done, he has no trouble letting out the contract. There's always someone who will do it—and for peanuts, too."—for little or no pay.

The swarthy, stocky Italian was described as "never at ease, always looking around the room," by one official who interviewed him.

"He spoke in broken English, and very haltingly. He kept saying he was doing something that never had been done before," this man said.

Valachi was in the Atlanta prison with Genovese on narcotics charges when he killed a fellow inmate because he felt the man had been chosen to execute him.

U.S. Warns ECM It Will Retaliate For Tariff Boosts

Washington (AP)—The European Common Market was put on notice Tuesday that if it doesn't call off sharp boosts on U.S. poultry products the United States will retaliate tit-for-tat.

U.S. concessions on Common Market exports will be withdrawn in equal measure, said Christian A. Herter, chief U.S. trade negotiator.

He announced in a statement that public hearings will be held next month to help the government select from a list of 19 commodities those on which higher

But a spokesman for Herter's office said if the European Common Market changes its position, the United States would be happy to halt its proceeding and look toward what he called restoration of a balance of concessions.

Senate To Receive Pact On Thursday

Washington (AP)—President Kennedy will send the new nuclear test ban treaty to the Senate Thursday, the White House said Tuesday. Hearings lasting an expected two to three weeks will begin Monday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the chair.

When completed, the historic agreement "will be assigned the highest priority" on the Senate floor, ahead of civil rights and foreign aid bills, said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"I feel our prospects are good for its ratification by the necessary two-thirds majority," he told a reporter.

Harriman Sees Passage

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who negotiated the pact in Moscow, also predicted passage.

The treaty, framed by Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States, bans nuclear tests in the air, space and under the sea but not under ground.

Mansfield commented on Senate ratification plans after the weekly meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with President Kennedy at the White House, and again later when questioned by a reporter.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., will give it "expeditious consideration," Mansfield said. He predicted the hearings would last at least two weeks. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican Leader, told reporters they "certainly wouldn't take more than 3 weeks." Mansfield said he presumed they would be open to the public.

Members of the Senate Armed Services and Joint Atomic Energy Committee have been invited to sit in on the sessions, although Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the armed services chairman, said his group may hold some closed independent hearings to pursue military security aspects.

Tentative Plans

Besides Rusk, tentative plans call for Harriman to testify Monday, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, accompanied by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Glenn T. Seaborg, Tuesday, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and other AEC officials, Wednesday.

Mansfield said top Pentagon scientists also would be called. And Dirksen said he understood committee members had submitted long lists of other witnesses they want to hear, including Dr. Edward Teller, father of the hydrogen bomb, who has misgivings about the treaty.

De Gaulle Won't Sign Test Ban

From Press Reports

Washington—French President Charles de Gaulle was reported Tuesday night to have told President Kennedy in a secret letter that France does not intend to sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty—even at the price of U.S. aid for France's nuclear weapons program.

Kennedy sent a message to De Gaulle July 25 reportedly soliciting French adherence to the treaty and indicating, in that connection, a U.S. willingness to assist De Gaulle's nuclear weapons program.

Informed French sources in Paris said Tuesday that France could not accept U.S. assistance unless it came with no strings attached. "If any such assistance were provided by America it would have to come freely, without any bargain being struck," one French source said.

In Washington White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger confirmed Tuesday that Kennedy had received from De Gaulle an answer to his July 25 letter. Salinger declined to discuss its content.

Along with his rejection of the treaty signed Monday by the United States, Russia and Britain, De Gaulle is also reported to have advised Kennedy that he is opposed to the non-aggression pact now sought by Soviet Premier Khrushchev between the NATO nations and the communist Warsaw Pact countries.

Kearney FFA Award Stems From 3 Projects

Achievement of national recognition for the Kearney Future Farmers of America chapter is the result of many hours of hard work. The chapter received one of 4 plaques awarded to outstanding FFA chapters from the American Institute of Cooperation.

The presentation took place at the 35th annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation, held at the University of Nebraska this week.

The 28 active members of the chapter are involved in 3 major projects, foremost of which is the Central Nebraska Sheep Improvement Association. This organization is sponsored and run by the boys, and highlights an annual Sheep Show and Sale, providing a marketing service for breeders throughout Nebraska and adjoining states. Last year 50 head of registered breeding stock was shown.

The chapter operates a 60 acre farm. They raise crops of certified wheat, certified oats, and the main cash crop of sorghum. They own a tractor, and when it is not in use on the farm, rent it out for "custom work". Any additional farm equipment needed is rented from a local implement dealer or borrowed from various members.

Each boy donates 8 hours of his time to the farm annually, for additional hours he is paid the regular wage scale.

Train Kills Man; Death Is 'Suicide'

A man's body with the top of the head completely torn off was found near the Rock Island railroad tracks under the 17th and Holdrege overpass late Tuesday.

The death of 62-year-old Albert Blair of 128 No. 19th was ruled a suicide by Deputy Sheriff Bob Lane, acting coroner.

Lane said investigation of Blair's body and signs in his apartment indicated he may have tried earlier to take his own life.

Passenger Run
The train that struck Blair was on a Rock Island passenger run through Lincoln bound for Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Engineer L. R. Stauss, 51, of Fairbury, told Lincoln police that he estimated the train was going 30 miles per hour as it neared the underpass.

Stauss said he saw a man standing near the tracks as he rounded the bend. The man, alone, appeared to be stumbling and weaving, the engineer said.

Not knowing whether the train had hit him, Stauss said he stopped after leaving Lincoln and examined the first 3 power units. He said he found no indication the train hit anybody.

Blair's body was found just east of the tracks by Police-man Gordon Cox.

Blood Tests Show Child Not Brando's

Santa Monica, Calif. (UPI) —Marlon Brando could not have been the father of a Philippine dancer's child, court-ordered blood tests disclosed Tuesday.

As a result, Superior Judge Edward Brand granted a motion to dismiss a paternity suit filed by Bernard B. Cohen in behalf of dancer Marie Cul on July 19.

The dancer had asserted Brando, married to the Mexican star Movita two years ago, was the father of her daughter, Maya Gabriella Cui Brando. The girl was born Feb. 27 of this year at Manila.

But the blood tests, ordered by Judge Brand last week, showed the blood type of the baby to be incompatible with that of the actor. This came to light when Cohen appeared in court Tuesday to move for dismissal of the charge—in accordance with California law that automatically requires the plaintiff to seek dismissal of such an action when blood tests prove negative.

"Miss Cui still insists vehemently that no other man could be the father of this child," the attorney said, "but the tests indicate the blood type of the baby is incompatible."

Brando, who has a son, Christian, by his marriage to Anna Kashfi, was served with the paternity suit while a hospital patient. He denied the charge.

Mid-State Project Hearing Aug. 29

Washington (AP) — A hearing on a bill to authorize a $81.5 million Mid-State Reclamation Project in Nebraska has been scheduled by a Senate Interior subcommittee for Aug. 29.

The project would be in Buffalo, Hall and Merrick counties.

The Senate passed a Mid-State project authorization bill in 1961 but the House did not act on it and it died with adjournment of Congress in 1962.

Charles Land, 63, Dies; Cass County Clerk Since 1954

Plattsmouth—Funeral services were held here Tuesday for Charles Land, 63, Cass County clerk. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

A Republican, he was in his 9th year as county clerk. He had lived in Plattsmouth 11 years.

Surviving are his wife, Helen; daughter, Mrs. Nancy Hopkins of Norfolk, Va.; 3 grandsons and a brother, Ben of Omaha.

Loomis Horse Has Sleeping Sickness

Holdrege (UPI)—County Extension Agent Jerry Schmoker said a local veterinarian has reported a horse in the Loomis areas with encephalitis, a sleeping sickness.

He said there were several other suspect horses in the area, but none had been definitely classified as yet.

Tot's Survival Depends Upon Doomed Child

Denver, Colo. (UPI) — A light-haired, wide-eyed 10-month-old girl is fighting for survival here.

Little Nancy Jeanne Schudies of Scottsbluff, Neb., was born with a defective liver. She is at Colorado General Hospital waiting for some donor's healthy liver to give her a chance for life.

But, such a transplant must come from a child doomed to die from some other illness. The donor must be a child no more than 3 years old.

Nancy has been waiting for a donor since she was admitted two months ago.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schudies of Scottsbluff, was born without ducts in her liver.

The ducts are the canals which carry body fluids and substances.

"It's terrible to think that the only chance for my baby is to find another child which is going to die," Mrs. Schudies said, "but I can only pray that we do find parents of such a child somewhere."

Tragedy is not new to the Schudieses. They have lost 3 children at birth in 13 years of marriage. They have a son, David, 12, now with his grandparents in Nebraska.

Shelter Test For Cattle Under Way

Elkhorn (AP) — A two-week test of animal reaction to life in a fallout shelter got under way Tuesday afternoon at a $35,000 shelter constructed by J. Gordon Roberts, Omaha dairyman.

Thirty Guernsey cows and one bull went into the shelter at 2 p.m. They'll come out Thursday for an exercise run, then will re-enter the shelter. The test will run two weeks.

Dennis DeFrain of Fairbury and Arthur E. Anderson Jr. of Genoa, seniors at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, are staying in the shelter with the cattle.

Webster Plans To Help Africa Improve Crops

Washington (AP) — O. J. Webster of the University of Nebraska said Tuesday he will leave Saturday to help set up a government program to assist in improving cereal crops in Africa.

Webster, an expert on grain sorghums, told a Nebraska Congressional delegation breakfast that the Agency for International Development contracted with the university for the project—first of its type. He plans to go to Paris next week to solicit co-operation of the French. He expects to go to Nigeria later.

Also attending the breakfast was Neil Slack of the faculty of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln. He is here to help train Peace Corps recruits.

Production Of Red Meat Is Down 4 Pct.

Commercial production of red meat in Nebraska during June was 166 million pounds, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

That was 5% under the 174 million pounds produced in June a year ago, but is 4% above the 1958-62 average of 160 million pounds.

Total red meat production from January through June is up about one per cent over last year, the report said. January-June beef production is up less than one per cent, veal production is down 10%, lamb and mutton down 11% and pork production up almost 3%, as compared with the first half of 1962.

Cattle slaughter of 183,000 head is down 6% from the 195,000 slaughtered in June a year ago, the report continued.

Total liveweight for June was 192,516,000 pounds or 1,052 pounds per head. Average liveweight was 1,038 last year.

The number of hogs slaughtered in Nebraska commercial plants during the month totaled 330,000 head, compared with 339,000 head a year ago.

Total liveweight for June was 817,120,000 pounds. Average live weight per hog slaughtered was 264 pounds, one pound lighter than last year.

Nebraska calf slaughter totaled 1,300 head during June 1963. In June of last year 500 were slaughtered. Average weight per head slaughtered was 390 pounds, 39 pounds lighter than those slaughtered in the same month a year ago.

2 Men Hurt In Collision With Parked Auto

Two Lincoln men were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital and released after the car in which they were riding collided with a parked car at 24th and Vine Tuesday evening.

Police identified the two as Gene Gary, 25, of 2340 Vine, driver of the car; and Samuel Thomas, 26, of 700 No. 24th, a passenger in the vehicle.

Lt. Bill Satterthwaite said the Gary vehicle was northbound on 24th and "didn't make a right turn onto Vine and struck the parked car."

Satterthwaite said the parked car was owned by Lee Williams, of 2340 Vine.

Iowa Firm Buys Victor Feeds

Crete (UPI)—Victor Feeds, one of the first feed plants in the state, has been sold, it was reported here.

The trade mark formula and name of the Crete company have been purchased by Nutrena Mills which has plants in Omaha and Sioux City, Iowa.

Officials of Crete Mills said the corn processing plant here and the physical feed plant were not included in the sale.

Kearney FFA Award Stems From 3 Projects

Achievement of national recognition for the Kearney Future Farmers of America chapter is the result of many hours of hard work. The chapter received one of 4 plaques awarded to outstanding FFA chapters from the American Institute of Cooperation.

The presentation took place at the 35th annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation, held at the University of Nebraska this week.

The 28 active members of the chapter are involved in 3 major projects, foremost of which is the Central Nebraska Sheep Improvement Association. This organization is sponsored and run by the boys, and highlights an annual Sheep Show and Sale, providing a marketing service for breeders throughout Nebraska and adjoining states. Last year 50 head of registered breeding stock was shown.

The chapter operates a 60 acre farm. They raise crops of certified wheat, certified oats, and the main cash crop of sorghum. They own a tractor, and when it is not in use on the farm, rent it out for "custom work". Any additional farm equipment needed is rented from a local implement dealer or borrowed from various members.

Each boy donates 8 hours of his time to the farm annually, for additional hours he is paid the regular wage scale.

In addition to the Sheep Association and the farm, the chapter has a sheep dipping vat, and last year dipped 600 sheep. They also have purebred livestock chains with 5 dairy cows, two Hampshire gilts and 6 Hampshire ewes.

Richard F. Welton, FFA advisor for the group and teacher of vocational agriculture, pointed out that the boys have individual projects

Summary of Conditions

The weak cold front moving rapidly into Nebraska from Canada Wednesday will cause very little weather change. Clear to partly cloudy skies will continue over both Nebraska and Iowa through Wednesday night. A few widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers can be expected over the extreme west portion of the state.

Our Horse-And-Buggy Senate

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

(Editor William O. Dobler is on vacation. Today's column is by the Washington writer, Ruth Montgomery.)

WASHINGTON—A remarkable metamorphosis is taking place in Congress that bodes little good for the proud Senate. The truth of the matter is that the august body which Americans traditionally regard as the "upper chamber" should now take a back seat to the House. Historically, ambitious politicians have started in the House, marking time there until they could build up enough prestige to run for the Senate. President Kennedy, Vice President Johnson, former Vice President Nixon, Senate Majority Leader Mansfield and Minority Leader Dirksen are cases in point.

England has just enacted a long-sought law permitting members of the House of Lords to shed their inherited titles so that they can run for the "lower" House of Commons, where the government's work is actually performed.

A similar cataclysm of public reaction could occur here. The Senate, impotently bound by its archaic rules and unbusinesslike approach to legislation, is earning the disgust of thinking Americans. Simultaneously, the far larger House is so efficiently organized that its members are becoming real experts in their particular legislative fields.

One reason for the growing ineptitude of the Senate is its system of assigning members to a wide variety of committees, whereas representatives are forced to specialize. A congressman who sits on the House Appropriations Committee, or on Armed Services, or Ways and Means can hold no other assignment. He must, therefore, concentrate on one field.

By contrast, even senators who are chairmen of top committees also serve on two to four others, and perhaps a dozen subcommittees. A typical example is Senator Richard Russell, who will lead the Dixie filibuster against civil rights legislation this autumn.

Russell is chairman of the powerful Armed Services Committee; yet he is also chairman of an appropriations subcommittee and a member of seven other appropriations subcommittees, besides his seat on the crucial Space Committee and the Joint Atomic Energy Committee. How can one man hope to become an expert on everything?

This correspondent recently asked a reasonably uncomplacent question of a senator who sits on the Space Committee. His refreshingly frank response was: "You could get a better answer from someone on the House Committee. They work at it more than we do, and are much more informed about what's going on in space." Intrigued, we checked into the set-ups of the rival space groups and learned that the Senate committee doesn't even have subdivisions. As a result, its Senate members must pose as experts on all phases of this vast new field of aeronautics and science, while sitting simultaneously on several other unrelated committees.

Paradoxically, the House Space Committee is a model of efficiency. Its 31 members are divided into three groups. One sector specializes only in manned space flight—Mercury, Gemini and Apollo. A second group concentrates on communications, tracking and weather satellites; the third on advance research and technology on propulsion and engines.

Consequently, the House members are likely to know what they're talking about when they ask their colleagues to authorize $5,200,000,000 for NASA, after first cutting the space agency's request by a half billion dollars. But what can the busy, distracted Senate space members know about the question?

It is therefore understandable that representatives are becoming increasingly irate with senators who blithely restore funds to appropriation bills after the House, with its superior knowledge and expertise, has painstakingly trimmed off excessive fat. Tempers are running high in the House, these past few years, at the slow pace of legislation through the foot-dragging, talkathon Senate. The so-called upper chamber, by refusing to tighten its rules and limit debate, has repeatedly forced the more efficient House to stay in session 10 months, for work that could be cleaned up in five or six.

If the Senate wants to survive as a respected cog in our system of checks and balances, it had better knuckle down to business and get rid of its horse-and-buggy rules. Otherwise, it could go the way of the outmoded House of Lords.

Mobsters Helped By Congressmen

WASHINGTON — In a search through federal crime files, this column has come across the names of members of Congress who have tried to save mobsters from deportation.

These were not obscure hoodlums who could easily pass themselves off as aggrieved constituents. They were big-time, big-money racketeers with international police records.

CASE NO. 1—Congressman Mike Kirwan, the tough, twinkling Irishman from Youngstown, Ohio, introduced a private bill to save Frank Cammarata from exile.

The Sicilian-born Cammarata, lean and mean, is a graduate of Detroit's infamous Purple Gang. He is described in the federal rogues' gallery as "a killer, holdup man and narcotics distributor."

Congress failed to share Kirwan's benevolent attitude toward the mobster, and in 1958, Cammarata skipped to Cuba in order to avoid deportation to Italy.

He soon fell into the clutches of Dictator Fidel Castro who had Cammarata arrested for possessing cocaine. But word got back to U.S. narcotics officials that the racketeer's real offense was smuggling drugs without giving the Castro government its cut.

FBI files tell a fascinating account of how the bearded

Cuban dictator tried to take over Cammarata's operation. He used two renegade American hoodlums to try to trick Cammarata into disclosing where he got the stuff and how he disposed of it in the United States.

One of the hoods, who used the alias of Carl Weston, actually was planted in Cammarata's cell to win his confidence. But the wily racketeer was too experienced at keeping his mouth shut and didn't tumble for the ruse.

CASE NO. 2—Louisiana's likeable Congressman Jimmy Morrison introduced a private bill to stop the deportation of New Orleans mobster Silvestro Carollo.

A darkly menacing fellow with black, thinning hair and a long curving face, Carollo is currently No. 34 on the international list of narcotics violators.

"This man," says the confidential report under his mug shot, "is a dangerous man and has been connected with narcotics traffic for many years."

His arrests go back to 1923 and encompass everything from swindling to the attempted murder of a narcotics agent.

Again, Congress learned the truth about the man in time to pigeonhole Morrison's bill. Carollo was deported to his native village of Terrasini, Sicily, where he now operates the biggest bar in town.

BOB CONSIDINE

A Visit To The USS Arizona

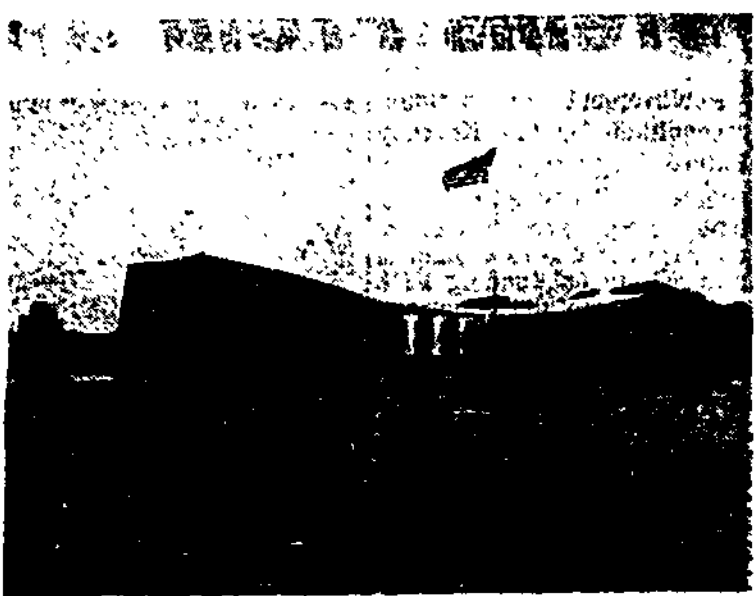

PEARL HARBOR—On the guided tour, they save the Arizona for last.

She still lies here today, holding her dead in her rusty and barnacled embrace. But something has been added since our last visit. She has a new superstructure, a dazzling white monument built over her bomb-gutted wreckage. The endless names of her dead are carved into one of the shrine's marble walls, a crew that once upon a long time ago ranged from fuzz-jawed kids to a grizzled admiral. Marine guards stand nearby as graven as images. A school girl took off her flower lei, spread it at the foot of the wall, and made the Sign of the Cross.

As our launch pulled away, Capt. Buzz Lloyd, USN, anticipated a question.

"People always ask why we didn't bring up the bodies after the attack," he said. "We started to, but two divers died from gas pockets when they cut through her armor. So the next of kin were consulted and in time they all agreed it wouldn't be right to risk any more lives. Enough were dead. It was the right decision, I think, but it must have been hard to make. We do what we can when a parent or a widow or a child comes out this way. We send a car, and give them something better than the rubber-neck tour."

The flag flies from the monument that sits atop the Arizona. The star-spangled emblem flutters stiffly from the very peak of its lofty pole, not at half mast.

"She's still carried on the rolls as a commissioned ship of the Navy," Buzz told us. "Ships that pass her give her the same recognition they give to ships that still float. She'll always be a part of our fleet." And a part of our heritage, Buzz might have added. For in a sense the Arizona epitomized America's entrance into the war that changed all things.

One moment she, like America, slumbered at her mooring blocks thousands of miles from the involvement of war. The next moment an armor-piercing bomb sliced through her forward deck, plunged to her keel before exploding, and ignited a chain reaction of her ammunition and fuel that exploded swiftly in a ghastly explosion which, to observers and the handful of men blown clear, seemed much like the utter violence of an erupting volcano.

Time is the antibiotic of anger. A sleek Japanese submarine rested today at a pier not far from the Arizona. It is here on a courtesy visit and the Pearl-based officers and men of the new U.S. Navy have made its crew most welcome.

In 1960 when the Navy found a long since sunken and forgotten Japanese woman submarine on the bottom of the narrow entrance to the harbor, they were returned to Japan for much the same burial rituals as were incanted over the massive tomb that is the Arizona.

One no longer hears the word "Japs" around Pearl Harbor. They are the Japanese, our friends, our trusted ally in a cold war the men of the Arizona could not have comprehended.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Nation's Defense Spending Under Fire

WASHINGTON — When the NATO ambassadors were taken on a tour of defense installations following the meeting of the NATO council in Ottawa, they were impressed most of all by the Strategic Air Command center at Omaha. Here was a sense of fantastic power that could be unleashed from the subterranean control center once the signal had come from the White House.

But they reported an incident that bears on a challenge rapidly taking shape here today. The NATO officials were being briefed by blunt, tough-spoken Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of SAC. When question time came, one of the ambassadors asked about overkill—the capacity of the American nuclear arsenal to destroy Soviet Russia many times over.

"Overkill!" the general exclaimed as the ambassadors told the story later. "Anybody who asks about overkill must have a screw loose somewhere."

There was embarrassed silence. Only a few days before, Lord Home, the British foreign minister, had delivered behind closed doors at Ottawa a lengthy warning on the peril of piling more and more overkill capacity. Each weapon that is added to the mountain of nuclear arms increases the chances that one of them will be accidentally fired.

Overkill, together with a $53.6 billion defense budget, which does not include appropriations for the Atomic Energy Commission, has been projected into the Washington arena. Sen. George McGovern (D., S.D.) started it with a speech that began by recalling his own experience on 35 missions as a B-24 bomber pilot. He proposed a $5 billion cut in defense and AEC appropriations. He is being followed by Sen. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and perhaps by other junior senators influenced by the presentation of Prof. Seymour Melman has been arguing the case for cutting back the overkill.

McGovern said that some of the billions going into defense should be spent to build up America's schools, attack the slums and give vocational training to the unemployed. This has the appeal of logic to those who believe America's strength lies not alone in weapons but in a confident people showing they are able to solve their own internal problems.

But it ignores the condition of Congress today and the long traffic jam of legislation meant to deal with such things as slum rebuilding, long-term unemployment, the decline of the educational system. When he has been asked about proposed cuts in the space budget, President Kennedy has replied by saying in almost so many words that if spending on space is reduced, the money will not go for education and the other purposes that seem desirable to probably a majority of members of Congress. Therefore, it is better to spend on space, which provides many incidental benefits, than not to spend at all.

The same argument can be made, taking into account the big payrolls that depend on defense contracts against cutting back the defense budget. This has been one reason for what has been an almost knee-jerk reaction to requests from the Pentagon for more and more billions.

If, however, there is ahead a real chance to ease up the arms race, that answer will not satisfy men like McGovern. They will want to prove that Congress is not stuck on the dead center of $50 billion defense budgets, with each section of the country clamoring for contracts. And that gets down to the reforms of the congressional system so long ignored.

Sen. Clifford Case (R., N.J.) has put in a bill proposing sweeping reforms. One would require action on proposals sent by the President within a fixed period of time—an effort to prevent the stalling by which a committee chairman can hold up legislation indefinitely. Congress has done nothing about its own rules and procedures since the LaFollette-Monroney act of 1946. And there has been a lot of slippage in the intervening years.

It is not too hard, congress is discovering, to whack away at the space budget as doubts arise about 1970. Defense billions may become equally vulnerable with a slight thaw in the cold war atmosphere.

But even critics of overkill and huge military budgets will see that the axe is hardly the proper instrument if we are to scale back to a more moderate level.

Commerce Doing Conscientious Job

WASHINGTON — A special medal should be struck for the Senate Commerce Committee. It has held conscientious hearings on difficult legislation, actually listened to both sides, examined the legal aspects and is about to make up its mind so the Senate can start work on the problems.

The committee began calling witnesses on the public accommodations section of the civil rights bill July 1. When it concluded last week, it had met 22 times and heard 46 witnesses.

Starting July 25, it also had to schedule hearings, often at night, on the President's plan for ending the threat of a railroad strike. These are now finished, well in advance of the strike deadline of August 29.

Chairman Warren Magnuson became ill after setting the courteous, rational pattern of the hearings, but Sens. John O. Pastore and Mike Monroney ably carried on. The other heroes who coped—sometimes unequally, but coped—with the issues are Democrats J. Strom Thurmond, Frank J. Lausche, Ralph W. Yarborough, Clair Engle, E. L. (Bob) Bartlett, Vance Hartke, Gale W. McGee, Philip A. Hart, and Republicans Norris Cotton, Thurston B. Morton, Hugh Scott, Winston L. Prouty and J. Glenn Beall.

As committee deliberations get underway, the outlook is grim for the Kennedy railroad plan, which may be displaced by a delaying action desired by labor, but it is brighter for civil rights. One participant forecasts a 9-8 division on the former but feels there will be votes to spare on civil rights, with possibly some restricting amendments.

The responsible Commerce committee behavior contrasts strikingly with the civil rights filibuster in Senate Judiciary. All that has happened there in eight sessions opening July 16 is Sen. Samuel J. Ervin's heckling of Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

Proud of his Harvard Law School training and judicial experience in North Carolina, Ervin is using them to build a constitutional case chiefly against the public accommodations section sent to Commerce. It was sent there precisely because it was realized that judiciary would not act at all.

But public accommodations is the part for which Negroes now contend in the streets and against which Southerners will fight hardest. For the South now sees it must yield on voting and schools.

The senator has addressed himself to the law and avoided the fact that discrimination exists and is a just grievance. It has forced this genial man of learning to a harsh defense of private property against human rights.

His problem is to get allies on the legal point while successfully evading the moral one. It is an old Southern problem, as historian Henry Steel Commager has pointed out in a New York Sunday Times article.

Your Five Cents Worth

Lincoln, Neb.

Once again the pots start calling the kettles black. Since the "tax tax" are now in the fire and the average taxpayer (not tax-supported) has apparently been burned to a crisp, the chief cooks and bottle washers with political aspirations are all in a tizzy.

Obviously the moment of truth has finally arrived, and those halcyon days of scheming and dreaming on the cuff of the taxpayer are a flimsy.

Exciting days lie ahead, as the so-called educated and the would-be dedicated retire to the inner sanctums to do research on a new formula for brainwashing the taxpayers.

In the July 31 issue of The Star, I noticed an article by Dean Terrill relative to Stu Bohacek, wherein it was stated that Wilber is the Czech capital of Nebraska. Wilber never was the Czech capital of Nebraska because that honor is held by Clarkson, Nebraska.

Clarkson is the only town in Nebraska where three Czech papers were published for many years and Clarkson was the last town in the state outside of Omaha to have Czech papers and for these reasons I claim that Clarkson is the Czech capital of Nebraska.

In the future, it should never be stated that Wilber is the Czech capital of Nebraska. A look at the telephone directory will show more Czech names in this area than any other in the state.

When Men Were Men

Community picnics, festival queens and harvest home barn dances—those we have had for ever so long.

But these rural midlands are developing a new farm festival, as grass roots as one could imagine and nostalgic enough to melt the coldest heart.

It is the old time wheat harvest complete with the steam threshing rigs.

Nebraska has its collectors of those old steamers. An Iowa community recently drew several thousand to an old fashioned harvest complete with wheat shocks and field pitching. More than one Kansas community is centering a whole celebration around an old steam threshing rig.

Of all the power machines produced by science and invention the steam engine is the one that holds the heart of man. He can look at a million kilowatt electric generator, spinning as silently as a jeweled watch and say, "So what." The super jets may appeal to the fly boys, but they are no more exciting than a blow torch to the average man on the ground. And so it is with the gas engine. It may be a marvel of efficiency but that's as far as it goes.

But when the huge stationary Corliss steam engine ruled the roost the engineer was a dedicated man, a true lover. Any old head locomotive engineer will tell you that when they took the steamer away from him and put him up front in the immaculate cab of a Diesel more than half of railroading disappeared and life became drudgery. The same with the farmer. Give him an old rusting derelict of a threshing machine; he will fondly restore it, polish on it every day and dream about it at night.

One can be sure that the burgeoning threshing festival is here to stay.

For others who looked forward to a few weeks work in a nearby harvest field and to those who remember how the farm wives pooled their skills and loaded the harvest tables with everything you could think of to eat and lots of it, it tells of a time when men were men and kings for a day. The mechanized age and the push buttons have dwarfed us. How sad to be little well kept nobodies who never even conquered a wheat shock.

Financing By Revenue

A representative of higher education in the State of Washington spoke of a liberalizing state legislative act in behalf of building construction at state colleges.

He noted that his state permits schools to pledge student registration fees to support revenue bond issues for building new class room facilities, or for modernizing and expanding existing ones.

Nebraska has taken a half step in that direction. It is permitting revenue bond issues on structures that enjoy earnings. This has liberated dormitory expansion by pledging student rentals as bond payments.

The virtue of this lies in a means for acquiring needed facilities without laying an extra burden on the property tax. This is well and good, but it does not extend to classroom facilities. Nebraska requires registration fees to contribute to operation. If teaching facilities are to be constructed the route is through special property levies.

The weakness of the Nebraska approach lies in a dependence on legislative mood which may or may not coincide with the educational problem. Growing enrollments which require increased dormitory facilities reflects equally in a demand for more class room facilities. If revenue from students must contribute to the operation of what exists and a legislature is unwilling to countenance added levies for class room facilities we have a situation where revenue allocation is frustrating educational service.

The Washington plan may have its critics but it can be said of it that it is more conducive to a balanced accommodations of education need. For that reason it counsels study, and may offer Nebraska a better way.

The Other Side Of It

The Wall Street Journal holds an unshakable position that federal agencies are not like old soldiers. They don't fade away. Instead, they expand, get bigger appropriations and find new worlds to conquer.

On the basis of that the Journal is feeling agony over the existence of the Farm Home Administration. Whenever it gets on the subject of farming, one can detect the odor of burning flesh.

Editorially the Journal noted that the FHA was established early in the New Deal for a very limited purpose, mainly helping tenant farmers purchase their own farms. It assumes that that need has long since passed. It is pained to learn that the FHA is more than ever in business and its loan volume is expected to hit $1 billion this year. What's more the FHA is lending to non farmers, if they live in a rural area, and is also financing such things as golf courses, boat docks, recreation resorts, and doing so at 4 per cent.

A good deal of that is correct. But none of it proves the FHA should be abolished and none of it proves that it is a leech agency. FHA is a bank operating on public money, doing its part in injecting vigor into the national economy. If it should lend money aimed at diverting crop land into recreation it is doing its bit to reduce food surpluses. Since the loan is repayable with interest one can argue that it is a thrifter measure than the soil bank which hires land out of production for a given number of years with no return to the taxpayer. It is better to make a repayable loan which promises non-farm income to the borrower while preventing crop production requiring the government to absorb it under its price support program.

It is also better to provide a fringe lending agency than to expect private banks to assume the burden of lending beyond safe limits in order to finance a public problem. FHA was cut back under the Eisenhower administration, but soon restored out of necessity.

The FHA can fight its own battle for survival, but critics owe it to the public to state the pluses as well as the minuses and to limit their judgment to the net good or evil which results.

Mobsters Helped By Congressmen

WASHINGTON — In a search through federal crime files, this column has come across the names of members of Congress who have tried to save mobsters from deportation.

These were not obscure hoodlums who could easily pass themselves off as aggrieved constituents. They were big-time, big-money racketeers with international police records.

CASE NO. 1—Congressman Mike Kirwan, the tough, twinkling Irishman from Youngstown, Ohio, introduced a private bill to save Frank Cammarata from exile.

The Sicilian-born Cammarata, lean and mean, is a graduate of Detroit's infamous Purple Gang. He is described in the federal rogues' gallery as "a killer, holdup man and narcotics distributor."

Congress failed to share Kirwan's benevolent attitude toward the mobster, and in 1958, Cammarata skipped to Cuba in order to avoid deportation to Italy.

He soon fell into the clutches of Dictator Fidel Castro who had Cammarata arrested for possessing cocaine. But word got back to U.S. narcotics officials that the racketeer's real offense was smuggling drugs without giving the Castro government its cut.

FBI files tell a fascinating account of how the bearded

Cuban dictator tried to take over Cammarata's operation. He used two renegade American hoodlums to try to trick Cammarata into disclosing where he got the stuff and how he disposed of it in the United States.

One of the hoods, who used the alias of Carl Weston, actually was planted in Cammarata's cell to win his confidence. But the wily racketeer was too experienced at keeping his mouth shut and didn't tumble for the ruse.

CASE NO. 2—Louisiana's likeable Congressman Jim Morrison introduced a private bill to stop the deportation of New Orleans mobster Silvestro Carollo.

A darkly menacing fellow with black, thinning hair and a long curving face, Carollo is currently No. 34 on the international list of narcotics violators.

"This man," says the confidential report under his mug shot, "is a dangerous man and has been connected with narcotics traffic for many years."

His arrests go back to 1923 and encompass everything from swindling to the attempted murder of a narcotics agent.

Again, Congress learned the truth about the man in time to pigeonhole Morrison's bill. Carollo was deported to his native village of Terrasini, Sicily, where he now operates the biggest bar in town.

Commerce Doing Conscientious Job

WASHINGTON — A special medal should be struck for the Senate Commerce Committee. It has held conscientious hearings on difficult legislation, actually listened to both sides, examined the legal aspects and is about to make up its mind so the Senate can start work on the problems.

The committee began calling witnesses on the public accommodations section of the civil rights bill July 1. When it concluded last week, it had met 22 times and heard 46 witnesses.

Starting July 25, it also had to schedule hearings, often at night, on the President's plan for ending the threat of a railroad strike. These are now finished, well in advance of the strike deadline of August 29.

Chairman Warren Magnuson became ill after setting the courteous, rational pattern of the hearings, but Sens. John O. Pastore and Mike Monroney ably carried on. The other heroes who coped—sometimes unequally, but coped—with the issues are Democrats J. Strom Thurmond, Frank J. Lausche, Ralph W. Yarborough, Clair Engle, E. L. (Bob) Bartlett, Vance Hartke, Gale W. McGee, Philip A. Hart, and Republicans Norris Cotton, Thurston B. Morton, Hugh Scott, Winston L. Prouty and J. Glenn Beall.

As committee deliberations get underway, the outlook is grim for the Kennedy railroad plan, which may be displaced by a delaying action desired by labor, but it is brighter for civil rights. One participant forecasts a 9-8 division on the former but feels there will be votes to spare on civil rights, with possibly some restricting amendments.

The responsible Commerce committee behavior contrasts strikingly with the civil rights filibuster in Senate judiciary. All that has happened there in eight sessions opening July 16 is Sen. Samuel J. Ervin's heckling of Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

Proud of his Harvard Law School training and judicial experience in North Carolina, Ervin is using them to build a constitutional case chiefly against the public accommodations section sent to Commerce. It was sent there precisely because it was realized that judiciary would not act at all.

But public accommodations is the part for which Negroes now contend in the streets and against which Southerners will fight hardest. For the South now sees it must yield on voting and schools.

The senator has addressed himself to the law and avoided the fact that discrimination exists and is a just grievance. It has forced this genial man of learning to a harsh defense of private property against human rights.

His problem is to get allies on the legal point while successfully evading the moral one. It is an old Southern problem, as historian Henry Steel Commager has pointed out in a New York Sunday Times article.

BOB CONSIDINE

A Visit To The USS Arizona

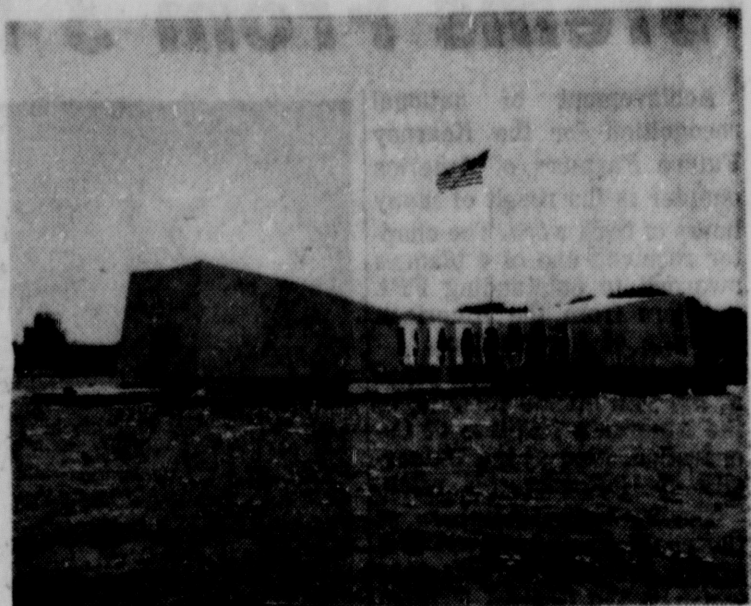

PEARL HARBOR—On the guided tour, they save the Arizona for last.

She still lies here today, holding her dead in her rusty and barnacled embrace. But something has been added since our last visit. She has a new superstructure, a dazzling white monument built over her bomb-gutted wreckage. The endless names of her dead are carved into one of the shrine's marble walls, a crew that once upon a long time ago ranged from fuzzi-jawed kids to a grizzled admiral. Marine guards stand nearby as graven as images. A school girl took off her flower lei, spread it at the foot of the wall, and made the Sign of the Cross.

As our launch pulled away, Capt. Buzz Lloyd, USN, anticipated a question.

"People always ask why we didn't bring up the bodies after the attack," he said. "We started to, but two divers died from gas pockets when they cut through her armor. So the next of kin were consulted and in time they all agreed it wouldn't be right to risk any more lives. Enough were dead. It was the right decision, I think, but it must have been hard to make. We do what we can when a parent or a widow or a child comes out this way. We send a car, and give them something better than the rubber-neck tour."

The flag flies from the monument that sits atop the Arizona. The star-spangled emblem flutters stiffly from the very peak of its lofty pole, not at half mast.

"She's still carried on the rolls as a commissioned ship of the Navy," Buzz told us. "Ships that pass her give her the same recognition they give to ships that still float. She'll always be a part of our fleet." And a part of our heritage, Buzz might have added. For in a sense the Arizona epitomized America's entrance into the war that changed all things.

One moment she, like America, slumbered at her mooring blocks thousands of miles from the involvement of war. The next moment an armor-piercing bomb sliced through her forward deck, plunged to her keel before exploding, and ignited a chain reaction of her ammunition and fuel that climaxed swiftly in a ghastly explosion which, to observers and the handful of men blown clear, seemed much like the utter violence of an erupting volcano.

Time is the antibiotic of anger. A sleek Japanese sub rested today at a pier not far from the Arizona. It is here on a courtesy visit and the Pearl-based officers and men of the new U.S. Navy have made its crew most welcome.

In 1960 when the Navy found a long since sunken and forgotten Japanese two-man submarine on the bottom of the narrow entrance to the harbor, they were returned to Japan for much the same burial rituals as were incanted over the massive tomb that is the Arizona.

One no longer hears the word "Japs" around Pearl Harbor. They are the Japanese, our friends, our trusted ally in a cold war the men of the Arizona could not have comprehended.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Nation's Defense Spending Under Fire

WASHINGTON — When the NATO ambassadors were taken on a tour of defense installations following the meeting of the NATO council in Ottawa, they were impressed most of all by the Strategic Air Command center at Omaha. Here was a sense of fantastic power that could be unleashed from the subterranean control center once the signal had come from the White House.

But they reported an incident that bears on a challenge rapidly taking shape here today. The NATO officials were being briefed by blunt, tough-spoken Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of SAC. When question time came, one of the ambassadors asked about overkill—the capacity of the American nuclear arsenal to destroy Soviet Russia many times over.

"Overkill!" the general exclaimed as the ambassadors told the story later. "Anybody who asks about overkill must have a screw loose somewhere."

There was embarrassed silence. Only a few days before, Lord Home, the British foreign minister, had delivered behind closed doors at Ottawa a lengthy warning on the peril of piling more and more overkill capacity. Each weapon that is added to the mountain of nuclear arms increases the chances that one of them will be accidentally fired.

Overkill, together with a $53.6 billion defense budget, which does not include appropriations for the Atomic Energy Commission, has been projected into the Washington arena. Sen. George McGovern (D., S.D.) started it with a speech that began by recalling his own experience on 35 missions as a B-24 bomber pilot. He proposed a $5 billion cut in defense and AEC appropriations. He is being followed by Sen. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and perhaps by other junior senators influenced by the presentation of Prof. Seymour Melman has been arguing the case for cutting back the overkill.

McGovern said that some of the billions going into defense should be spent to build up America's schools, attack the slums and give vocational training to the unemployed. This has the appeal of logic to those who believe America's strength lies not alone in weapons but in a confident people showing they are able to solve their own internal problems.

But it ignores the condition of Congress today and the long traffic jam of legislation meant to deal with such things as slum rebuilding, long-term unemployment, the decline of the educational system. When he has been asked about proposed cuts in the space budget, President Kennedy has replied by saying in almost so many words that if spending on space is reduced, the money will not go for education and the other purposes that seem desirable to probably a majority of members of Congress. Therefore, it is better to spend on space, which provides many incidental benefits, than not to spend at all.

The same argument can be made, taking into account the big payrolls that depend on defense contracts against cutting back the defense budget. This has been one reason for what has been an almost knee-jerk reaction to requests from the Pentagon for more and more billions.

If, however, there is ahead a real chance to ease up the arms race, that answer will not satisfy men like McGovern. They will want to prove that Congress is not stuck on the dead center of $50 billion defense budgets, with each section of the country clamoring for contracts. And that gets down to the reforms of the congressional system so long ignored.

Sen. Clifford Case (R., N.J.) has put in a bill proposing sweeping reforms. One would require action on proposals sent by the President within a fixed period of time—an effort to prevent the stalling by which a committee chairman can hold up legislation indefinitely. Congress has done nothing about its own rules and procedures since the LaFollette-Monroney act of 1946. And there has been a lot of slippage in the intervening years.

It is not too hard, congress is discovering, to whack away at the space budget as doubts arise about 1970. Defense billions may become equally vulnerable to a slight thaw in the cold war atmosphere.

But even critics of overkill and huge military budgets will see that the axe is hardly the proper instrument if we are to scale back to a more moderate level. Copyright, 1963, By UF Syndicate, Inc.

Washington (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., was chided by a Negro leader before a crowded room of nearly 100 NAACP members Tuesday for his refusal to support President Kennedy's public accommodations bill.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told Dirksen it was "most unfortunate" that he has made it clear he cannot support what most Negroes consider the key to civil rights legislation.

Standing next to Dirksen in front of the microphone, Mitchell said "It is not a question of whether you are for this title (public accommodations) but whether you are going to do something about these people ... getting shot at, hit, or even killed when going into a restaurant ..."

Hasn't Changed Dirksen, who has co-sponsored every other part of the administration's civil rights package, said he has not changed his views on public accommodations.

"I hope we have not heard the last of this," Mitchell said. "I am asking these people to pray for you ..."

Just before he got into the hassle with Mitchell, Dirksen told the delegates to a 3-day NAACP legislative conference that Congress will pass a "reasonable civil rights bill."

But he also warned that "sometimes ... you have to determine whether you want some bread or none at all."

Doesn't Try to Please

"You may not be satisfied with my approach to title two," Dirksen, who has introduced a voluntary measure to desegregate public facilities, said, "but I don't go around particularly trying to please everyone."

"I will adhere to my convictions," he added, "and pursue it according to my lights."

The Mitchell-Dirksen tiff came at a briefing by liberal Republican senators for the NAACP delegates. It was preceded by a similar program by a group of Democratic senators.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., told the delegates that the Senate was within 7 or 8 votes of the 67 needed for cloture, which would choke off any Southern filibuster.

He based this tally on the number of senators who sponsored the omnibus civil rights bill and the number who voted to end filibusters on rules changes earlier in the session.

"We are very close right now ...," Hart said, "to get the votes needed on the day that cloture arrives."

He said a majority of the Senate now supports civil rights but the problem was to permit "that majority to express its will."

London (UPI) — A Scotland Yard report will recommend "a number of people" be charged with conspiracy and perjury in connection with a case related to the Profumo scandal, the Daily Sketch said Tuesday night.

Sketch chief crime reporter Peter Duffy said the recommendation will be made following an investigation into the arrest and conviction of Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, a Jamaican jazz singer who last Tuesday won an appeal against a 3-year prison sentence passed on him for allegedly beating playgirl Christine Keeler.

Duffy gave no source for his information. The article appeared in the Wednesday edition of the Sketch.

The State Education and Health Departments, assisted by the Safety Patrol and the Lancaster County Red Cross, are sponsoring 6 school bus conferences at various locations in Nebraska during August, Education Commissioner Floyd A. Miller said Tuesday.

All public and private school bus drivers and administrators have been invited to attend the sessions.

The first conference will be held at University High School in Lincoln Aug. 15. Succeeding conferences will be held at Norfolk Senior High Aug. 16, Hastings Senior High Aug. 19, North Platte Adams Junior High Aug. 20, Alliance Junior High Aug. 21 and Ainsworth High Aug. 22.

Spelling Out Purposes of the meetings are to clarify the responsibilities of the many persons identified with the transportation of Nebraska school children, and to develop a spirit of cooperation with all concerned to assure safe transportation for the 30,000 pupils transported in the state's 1,500 school buses.

At the morning session of each conference bus drivers will be given information concerning health and safety, first aid, rules of the road, bus inspections and school bus laws.

The morning session for administrators will be devoted to such matters as accreditation, new legislation, state reports and vocational education, Miller said.

Meet For Lunch

Bus drivers and administrators will meet at noon luncheons to discuss the management and administration of the school bus program.

Ample opportunity will be given during the day to consider problems of school bus drivers, the commissioner said.

T. R. Dappen of the Health Department, and H. C. Ebmeier of the Instructional Services Division of the Education Department, will be directors of the conference programs.

NAACP Aide Chides Dirksen

Washington (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., was chided by a Negro leader before a crowded room of nearly 100 NAACP members Tuesday for his refusal to support President Kennedy's public accommodations bill.

Mayor To Attend Weekend Nation Municipal Confab

Mayor Dean Petersen will attend the National Municipal Conference Aug. 9-13 in Houston, Tex.

Petersen said he will leave Lincoln Friday and return next Wednesday.

Council Vice Chairman John Comstock will be acting mayor during Petersen's absence.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson said Comstock, as acting mayor, will perform all the duties of the full-time mayor, as provided by the city charter.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told Dirksen it was "most unfortunate" that he has made it clear he cannot support what most Negroes consider the key to civil rights legislation.

Standing next to Dirksen in front of the microphone, Mitchell said "it is not a question of whether you are for this title (public accommodations) but whether you are going to do something about these people ... getting shot at, hit, or even killed when going into a restaurant ..."

Hasn't Changed Dirksen, who has co-sponsored every other part of the administration's civil rights package, said he has not changed his views on public accommodations.

"I hope we have not heard the last of this," Mitchell said. "I am asking these people to pray for you ..."

Just before he got into the hassle with Mitchell, Dirksen told the delegates to a 3-day NAACP legislative conference that Congress will pass a "reasonable civil rights bill."

Wedding In Dallas

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Carl Arnold make announcement of the marriage of their daughter, Shelly Elizabeth of Dallas, Tex., to Fred Samuel Ball, III, son of Maj. and Mrs. Fred Samuel Ball of Norman, Okla.

The wedding took place on Sunday, July 21, and the ceremony was solemnized at St. Michael's and All the Angels Church, Episcopal at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Susan McCallum of Dallas was the maid of honor and only attendant, and Henry Ball of Norman, Okla., served his brother as best man.

The bride was graduated from Brownell Hall, Omaha; attended William Woods College, the University of Oklahoma, and was graduated from the University of Nebraska. Since last fall she has served as director of youth activities at the North Dallas area YWCA.

Mr. Ball was graduated from the University of Oklahoma where he is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon. Mr. Ball and his bride are residing at 809½ Spruce St., Duncan, Okla.

Chapel Ceremony

At a 7:30 o'clock evening service on Tuesday, Aug. 6, Miss LaDonna Crozier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Crozier, became the bride of Thomas Pospisil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Pospisil. The ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Glover Leitch in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Edgar Cole, organist, played the wedding music. The vocalist was Miss Janice DeVaney.

Miss Cheryl Crozier, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Deanne Olson, wore full-skirted frocks of pink and white checked silk organza over taffeta. Each carried a single, large white chrysanthemum.

Serving Mr. Pospisil as best man was Melvin Kuhn, and the ushers were William Pospisil and Pete Lage, Omaha; and Kenneth Tenhulzen.

The bride chose white peau de soie for her wedding gown. The sculptured bodice, designed with elbow sleeves, was contoured by a capelet collar edged with Venise lace, and the bell skirt was detailed at the back by an oblique drape. A fabric rose trimmed with pearls held to the head her veil of illusion, and she carried a modern arrangement of roses.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Pospisil, both students at the University of Nebraska, will make their home at 3501 A. The bride is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and Mr. Pospisil's fraternity is Kappa Sigma.

Lincoln Duplicate Bridge Club, 7:30 o'clock, Lincoln Hotel.

It's Another Good Morning For News

It's another good morning for news, and though it mainly is about guests—those who have been and gone—those who have just arrived—and others who are expected in late August—we have some non guest news we think will be of interest.

Now to the guest list—We learned that Miss Dorothy Leland arrived Monday from New York City to spend a couple of weeks or so with her father, the Rev. Dean R. Leland, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bentley (Elizabeth Leland) and their family, who moved to Lincoln from the east coast a few months ago.

Also on the guest list is Mrs. Tom Rice of Philadelphia, Pa., who is visiting numerous old friends in town. Mrs. Rice will be remembered as the former Winifred Edece—Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska.

Complimenting Mrs. Rice on Thursday morning will be Mrs. Burton Brown who has invited guests for a 10 o'clock coffee at her home.

One Brown leads to another—this one with an 'e.' Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Browne, Jr., and their three children, Bill, Bob and Avery, are home again. Mrs. Browne and the children left several weeks ago for a visit with Mrs. Browne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Grainger in Salinas, Calif. They were joined there by Mr. Browne who remained for a brief visit before accompanying his family home.

Understand that Richard Drain was in and out of Lincoln recently when he came from Omaha to attend the Arnold Palmer-Gary Player golf match at Hillcrest Club—and to spend a very brief time with his cousin, Mrs. Frank E. Roehl and Mr. Roehl.

Mr. Drain, who is with the State Department, Mrs. Drain (the former Margene Noland of Omaha) and their children, Whitley and Bob, now are the guests of Mr. Drain's aunt, Mrs. E. C. Ames, at her summer home in Estes Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Drain and their family soon will leave the States for Mr. Drain's new assignment in Kenya.

The potential guests we mentioned are Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bradley of Des Moines who have plans for Lincoln and a visit with Mrs. Bradley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd True on or about Aug. 24.

Before going on to Northfield Mrs. Hall and her daughter will visit Mrs. Hall's sister, Mrs. John Dodds (better known to TV audiences as Vivian Vance) in Stamford, Conn. Miss Ames will spend some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ames in New York before going to Northfield.

Activity In Suburbia

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

There is certainly no time for dilly-dallying today, for there are suitcases to unpack, more to pack, guests who will be arriving, parties to attend, and picnic dinners to prepare.

Busy Suburban residents just don't seem to have a minute to catch up on what their neighbors have been doing, and from the way things look, there doesn't appear to be a break in the busy stream of activities for many days to come.

There have been some very busy girls in the Northeast Heights area lately for it seems that Jane and Vicki Sieckman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Sieckman, have just returned home after spending three weeks visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sieckman in El Dorado, Kan.

Jane and Vicki, who returned home last Sunday, were joined in Junction City, Kan., by their parents who accompanied them home.

Returning home last Thursday evening from a three-day camping trip at Atkinson, were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lockhart and their son Larry.

The threesome spent the three days casting their lines into the fishing stream and just "relaxing."

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spreier and their son Lonnie last Saturday were Mr. Spreier's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David Spreier of Bremerton, Wash. Honoring the visitors Mr. and Mrs. Spreier entertained at dinner on Saturday evening when other family members included Mrs. Betty Spreier and Mrs. Elizabeth Spreier.

The Washington guests will be spending several days visiting other relatives and friends before returning to their home.

Party Was Farewell Courtesy

The party began at 7 o'clock on Monday evening, and the last sleepy-eyed slumber party guest left the home of her hostess on Tuesday afternoon.

The affair, for which Miss Janice Fischer and Miss Jeanine Duncan were hostesses at the home of Miss Fischer, was a farewell courtesy to Miss Linda Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson, who leaves soon with her family to reside in Fairbury.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

The population of Sunnyside Acres has increased by two new members—all within the last two weeks.

The first addition was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lally who are the proud parents of a son, Anthony Jerome, who came in to the world July 23, at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Anthony's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Barney and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lally of Villanova, Pa.

Anthony also will receive plenty of attention from his two sisters, Lisa and Mary Kay.

In honor of Mrs. Lally and her new son, Mrs. Ed Williams and Mrs. Jim Williams were hostess at the home of Mrs. Ed Williams for a desert shower.

The guests included Mrs. Cloyd Troyer, Mrs. Steve Brown, Mrs. James Mertlik and Mrs. Jack Krumm.

The second brand new Sunnyside Acres resident is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Behrends. He has been named Kenneth Leon, and he made his debut July 27, at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Kenneth will have built-in playmates in his two older brothers, LeRoy and Steven.

His maternal grandfather is James Bivens and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Behrends, all of Nebraska City.

Party Was Farewell Courtesy

The marriage of Miss Olga Zbytniuk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Whiting, to Robert L. Rauch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rauch, was solemnized on Tuesday evening, Aug. 6, at St. Paul Methodist Church. Dr. Harold Sandall read the lines of the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Houghton Furr, organist. Mr. Furr also accompanied Dr. Carroll Sawin, the vocal soloist.

Frooked in pastel yellow silk organza over taffeta with matching bow bandeaux were Mrs. Roger Dean of Tucson, Ariz., who was her sister's matron of honor; the bridesmatron, Mrs. Tom Harrington of York, sister of the bridegroom; and the bridesmaids, Miss Marilyn Meyer, Miss Larissa Zbytniuk and Miss Clara Zbytniuk, both sisters of the bride. They carried white and yellow carnations.

Tom Harrington of York served as best man, and the corps of ushers included John Settle, Kansas City, Mo.; Teddy Zbytniuk, brother of the bride, Bill North, Larry DeVries, Dick Wood and Chet Paul.

Tuesday Wedding

The bride appeared in a gown of delustered satin in traditional white. Appliques of imported lace overlaid the front of the fitted bodice and formed the sabbina neckline, and the lace motif was repeated in the trim of the very full skirt, which was caught into a bustle drape and continued into a chapel train. A crown of lace and pearl petals held her bouffant veil of illusion, and she carried pale yellow roses centered with a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Rauch will make their home at 5244 Walker following a Colorado wedding trip. The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska, and Mr. Rauch is attending Nebraska Wesleyan University where he is president of W Club.

Anthony also will receive plenty of attention from his two sisters, Lisa and Mary Kay.

In honor of Mrs. Lally and her new son, Mrs. Ed Williams and Mrs. Jim Williams were hostess at the home of Mrs. Ed Williams for a desert shower.

The guests included Mrs. Cloyd Troyer, Mrs. Steve Brown, Mrs. James Mertlik and Mrs. Jack Krumm.

The second brand new Sunnyside Acres resident is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Behrends. He has been named Kenneth Leon, and he made his debut July 27, at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Kenneth will have built-in playmates in his two older brothers, LeRoy and Steven.

His maternal grandfather is James Bivens and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Behrends, all of Nebraska City.

The marriage of Miss Olga Zbytniuk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Whiting, to Robert L. Rauch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rauch, was solemnized on Tuesday evening, Aug. 6, at St. Paul Methodist Church. Dr. Harold Sandall read the lines of the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Houghton Furr, organist. Mr. Furr also accompanied Dr. Carroll Sawin, the vocal soloist.

The bride appeared in a gown of delustered satin in traditional white. Appliques of imported lace overlaid the front of the fitted bodice and formed the sabrina neckline, and the lace motif was repeated in the trim of the very full skirt, which was caught into a bustle drape and continued into a chapel train. A crown of lace and pearl petals held her bouffant veil of illusion, and she carried pale yellow roses centered with a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Rauch will make their home at 5244 Walker following a Colorado wedding trip. The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska, and Mr. Rauch is attending Nebraska Wesleyan University where he is president of W Club.

Party Was Farewell Courtesy

The party began at 7 o'clock on Monday evening, and the last sleepy-eyed slumber party guest left the home of her hostess on Tuesday afternoon.

The affair, for which Miss Janice Fischer and Miss Jeanine Duncan were hostesses at the home of Miss Fischer, was a farewell courtesy to Miss Linda Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson, who leaves soon with her family to reside in Fairbury.

Chapel Ceremony

At a 7:30 o'clock evening service on Tuesday, Aug. 6, Miss LaDonna Crosier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Crosier, became the bride of Thomas Pospisil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Pospisil. The ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Glover Leitch in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Edgar Cole, organist, played the wedding music. The vocalist was Miss Janice DeVaney.

Miss Cheryl Crosier, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Deanne Olson, wore full-skirted frocks of pink and white checked silk organza over taffeta. Each carried a single, large white chrysanthemum.

Serving Mr. Pospisil as best man was Melvin Kuhn, and the ushers were William Pospisil and Pete Lage, Omaha; and Kenneth Tenhulzen.

The bride chose white peau de soie for her wedding gown. The sculptured bodice, designed with elbow sleeves, was contoured by a capelet collar edged with Venise lace, and the bell skirt was detailed at the back by an obi drape. A fabric rose trimmed with pearls held to the head her veil of illusion, and she carried a modern arrangement of roses.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Pospisil, both students at the University of Nebraska, will make their home at 3501 A. The bride is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and Mr. Pospisil's fraternity is Kappa Sigma.

Dear Abby

Ignore Both Of Them

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son, married only four years, phoned us yesterday to say his wife never wanted to see us or hear from us again. The reason: She doesn't like my loud laughter or "affectionate ways". My son says his first duty is to his wife. Must a son forsake his parents to prove his love for his wife? Last Mother's Day I broke down in a flood of tears because there was no card or call from them. Dad tried to console me, but on Father's Day he cried like a baby because he was forgotten, too. They have two darling babies which they always take to see the other grandparents. They never come to us. Have other parents gone through this? Must we forget our son or what?

HURT PARENTS
DEAR ABBY: Yes, many other parents have "gone through this". You can't force your love on your son or on his wife, and you shouldn't try. The immature and embittered daughter-in-law is your son's problem. Best that you ignore both of them until he shows what he can, or will, do — if anything.

DEAR ABBY: When a man proposes to you, cold sober, and then doesn't do anything about it, can he be sued for breach of promise? Do I need witnesses? If so, how many? Please don't tell me to see a lawyer — he IS one. Thank you.

JILTED
DEAR JILTED: See ANOTHER lawyer. This time for professional reasons.

DEAR ABBY: I am 68 and Albert is 76, and we have been married 51 years. I have never had any trouble with him until just lately. There is this young, good-looking, blonde-headed neighbor woman across the alley and she can't be over 25. She takes sun baths in her back yard every morning, and my Old Man has suddenly decided he is going to go in our back yard and pull weeds. There ARE no weeds, and if there were he'd ask me to pull them because he's got a bum back. I don't want him to think I am jealous, so I haven't said anything to him. Maybe I should. What do you think?

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Don't worry. It takes two to Tango. Besides, if Albert's back is too "bum" for wedding, he's not about to tango.

CONFIDENTIAL
TO "DALLAS GIRL": Your problem is neither as serious nor as unusual as you imagine it to be. Many married women wonder about the same thing. I urge you to discuss it frankly with your family doctor.

Opening lead—jack of spades.

The night Sylvia played in her first duplicate tournament was a night to remember. She had been a member of our club only two or three weeks, but even in that short interval of time the entire membership had become familiar with at least some of her extraordinary exploits.

We had never previously seen such a player. It wasn't that Sylvia was a poor player—we had lots of them in the club—it was just that her thinking processes were so different from those of any player any of us had ever met. The mistakes she made were so far removed from ordinary human error that we quickly realized her mental quirks were, at the very least, unique.

Nevertheless, Sylvia's bizarre approach to the game brought her many a sensational triumph, and it was these victories that made her the most talked-about member of the club.

A few of the members opposed to allowing Sylvia to play in the duplicate, for fear she would spoil the game, but, on the whole, most were for the idea. They were curious to see what would happen.

They didn't have long to wait. On the very first board Sylvia became declarer at six spades. West led the jack of spades.

It is hard to explain what happened now. I don't know whether it was the tension of the moment, or the excitement of playing in her first duplicate, or what the reason was that caused her to do what she did, but the fact is that Sylvia played the two from dummy!

This astonishing play was greeted by a strange and eerie silence on all sides. West then led a club. Sylvia took the ace, cashed the ace of diamonds, played a spade to the queen, ruffed a diamond, played a spade to the king, ruffed a diamond, played a spade to the ace, and then discarded three clubs on the 10-7-6 of diamonds to make the contract.

If she had won the opening spade lead in dummy, she would have had to go down one!

Why Grow Old?

Questions And Answers

Josephine Lowman

Answer to "Wants To Know"—Your letter reached me too late to give you an answer. You had already left on your trip. Sorry.

Q. "Two years ago I joined your Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon and lost 36 pounds. Before starting I weighed 178 pounds. I was afraid I would gain some of that weight back but here it is two years later and I haven't gained an ounce. My friends say that I am not overweight but I would like for you to say whether or not I should lose some more. I am 5 feet, 7½ inches tall, have a large frame and weigh 140 pounds."

A. Congratulations! You certainly are NOT overweight, not even if you have a medium frame.

Q. "I cut many of your exercises out of the paper which I need especially, like the ones for flabby arms. I exercise every day from ten to 15 minutes. The last few years my inner legs have been growing flabby. I am not fat and realize that this is an aging sign but it isn't becoming in a swim suit. Is there an exercise for this particular condition?"

A. Yes! Exercise will help a lot. The following is one of the very best. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from the shoulders, palms toward the floor. Lift both legs half-way up. Keep the knees stiff throughout this exercise. Separate the legs. Swing them toward one another, crossing the right leg over the left. Swing apart. Swing together this time crossing the left leg over the right. After a few swings lower legs to the floor and rest. Then lift the legs and continue.

Q. "Why haven't you commented on the 'beef' I sent about the gorilla grip used by some handshakers. Maybe you go for the toothy extroverts with this sort of long-time, no-see handshake and slapping on the back."

A. I just hadn't gotten around to it yet! I can't publish all letters sent to the question box, but I had saved yours for it. I like a good firm handshake but not the bone crushing type. Some folks do have a shake which really hurts and when it is unexpected, you do not have time to brace your hand for it. When I have these individuals spotted I just say "I'm sorry but I have a sore finger."

Atheist Will Check Project

Baltimore 46—Mrs. Madalyn J. Murray leaves Wednesday for Stockton, Kan., to look over her latest project, a corporation for an atheist center.

The Baltimore housewife recently won a Supreme Court case to have required prayers and Bible readings declared unconstitutional in public schools.

Mrs. Murray formed the atheist corporation, to be known as Other Americans Inc., July 2 after former Kansas state senator Carl Brown donated an 80-acre tract of land near Stockton for the project.

She is driving out to Stockton with her two sons, William J. Murray III, 17, and Garth, 8, and her mother.

The 43-year-old divorcee said she was making the trip to survey the land, pick up the deeds and "do a million different things."

Mrs. Murray said she would establish a university, an information center, a radio station, and a printing press and a home for the aged at the atheist center.

A 50,000 book library has already been donated to the project, she said, and the corporation has received pledges amounting to about $100,000.

Mrs. Murray said she understood there are several usable buildings on the property, including a house and a barn.

"The project is becoming more and more interesting," she said. "The enthusiasm about this is surprising even to me. I'm having incredible support."

90 Vietnamese Communists Die In Night Battle

Saigon (UPI)—An estimated 90 communist guerrillas were reported Tuesday to have been killed in a night battle with a U.S. and Vietnamese special forces unit on the Caman Peninsula of South Viet Nam.

U.S. Military sources said some of the Red Viet Cong guerrillas were mowed down as they charged to bugle calls against the dug-in defenders.

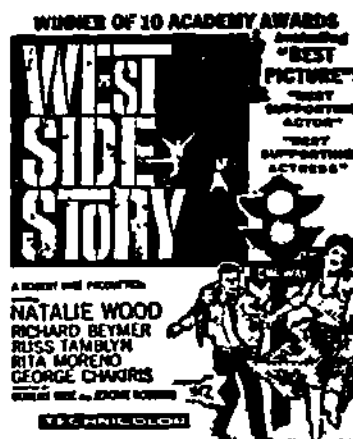

The sources, who reported the battle took place last week, said most of the Viet Cong were believed to have been killed by mortar and artillery fire from a nearby government post.

A U.S. military spokesman said 3 Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 9 wounded. A U.S. Army enlisted man was struck by fragments from communist mortar shells but was not wounded seriously, the spokesman added.

9 DIE IN WORLD'S DEEPEST GOLD MINE

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP)—An explosion in the world's deepest gold mine Tuesday killed 9 African miners and injured 23 others. One was reported missing and believed dead.

The blast, at 9,000 feet, also injured 3 white men.

The mine is at Boksburg, 16 miles from Johannesburg.

Rescuers battling to free the missing miner said they would have to tunnel through about 100 feet of rock with little hope of finding him alive.

The last survivor was brought to the surface 10 hours after the blast. For several hours, his weakening cries had guided rescuers. They found the man, Wilson Tolzimma, pinned under rock with his right leg crushed. He was given morphine shots and brought to the surface strapped to a stretcher.

Mine manager G. B. Hamilton said: "This is the worst rockfall I have seen in 40 years."

Said the freed miner: "It was ghastly. The area looked as if it had been blasted."

The cause of the explosion was not known.

Atheist Will Check Project

Baltimore (AP)—Mrs. Madelyn J. Murray leaves Wednesday for Stockton, Kan., to look over her latest project, a corporation for an atheist center.

The Baltimore housewife recently won a Supreme Court case to have required prayers and Bible readings declared unconstitutional in public schools.

Mrs. Murray formed the atheist corporation, to be known as Other Americans Inc., July 2 after former Kansas state senator Carl Brown donated an 80-acre tract of land near Stockton for the project.

She is driving out to Stockton with her two sons, William J. Murray III, 17, and Garth, 8, and her mother.

The 43-year-old divorcee said she was making the trip to survey the land, pick up the deeds and "do a million different things."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath." Get FASTEREETH at drug counters everywhere.

90 Vietnamese Communists Die In Night Battle

Saigon (UPI)—An estimated 90 communist guerrillas were reported Tuesday to have been killed in a night battle with a U.S. and Vietnamese special forces unit on the Caman Peninsula of South Viet Nam.

U.S. Military sources said some of the Red Viet Cong guerrillas were mowed down as they charged to bugle calls against the dug-in defenders. The sources, who reported the battle took place last week, said most of the Viet Cong were believed to have been killed by mortar and artillery fire from a nearby government post.

A U.S. military spokesman said 3 Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 9 wounded. A U.S. Army enlisted man was struck by fragments from communist mortar shells but was not wounded seriously, the spokesman added.

9 DIE IN WORLD'S DEEPEST GOLD MINE

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP)—An explosion in the world's deepest gold mine Tuesday killed 9 African miners and injured 23 others. One was reported missing and believed dead.

The blast, at 9,000 feet, also injured 3 white men.

The mine is at Boksburg, 16 miles from Johannesburg.

Rescuers battling to free the missing miner said they would have to tunnel through about 100 feet of rock with little hope of finding him alive.

The last survivor was brought to the surface 10 hours after the blast. For several

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The only remaining original member of the 13 man Farm Credit Board, Marvin J. Briggs of Indianapolis, Indiana, summed up his near 40 years of experience with cooperatives by telling American Institute of Cooperation members meeting here Tuesday what he thought would happen in agriculture during the next decade.

"There is no industry more inclusive, more efficient, more attractive, and more challenging to the farm youth of the future than our ever-expanding agriculture," said Briggs.

This he followed with a stern warning, "advise the youth not to risk the possibility of getting into the troublesome miasma of unemployment because they lack the skills and knowledge of a college education. You'll need it or its equivalent in the agriculture of tomorrow."

Although family farms will

grow larger, and fewer, Briggs forecasts that the 1960 farm of 300 acres will be 600 acres in 10 years, there is no danger in his opinion of their being taken over by corporations.

"There are several reasons why large corporate farms are not likely to become numerous," Briggs said, "In the first place, large farms cannot be easily aggregated into solid blocks because family farms are not frequently offered for sale. Too, land which is offered for sale tends to be absorbed by adjacent family farms."

Secondly, Briggs doesn't see any match for the family managed operation in comparison with the supervision of looking down the production line of a 10,000 corporation farm.

Contrary to widespread beliefs, Briggs thinks more people will live in rural areas, but he says they will be non-farmers with the part-time farmer being a diminishing factor in agricultural production.

He sees more specialization in livestock and a higher standard of living on the farms than in other comparable income occupations.

When it comes to marketing and merchandising farm products Briggs who for 32 years managed the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative, thinks contracts between farmers and cooperatives to purchase supplies and products will increase.

Glenn E. Heltz of Washington, D.C., deputy governor and director, Cooperative Bank Service, Farm Credit Administration, who shared the general session on Credit in Modern Agriculture with

Briggs, said, "Farmers have every reason to develop a real interest in their off-the-farm business to increase the overall efficiency of their operations in order to obtain a larger share of the consumers dollar."

He predicted that farm cooperatives will make greater and more rapid changes in the next decade than they have made in the past 10 years.

Nebraska Farmer Receives 'Oscar'

The DeKalb Agricultural Association "Oscar" for the nation's outstanding farm publication has been awarded to the Nebraska Farmer and Editor Marvin Russell.

The award, made in DeKalb, Ill., is given to the farm publication writer whose work appears most effective in furthering advancement in American agriculture.

Basis of the Farmer's receipt of the "Oscar" was Russell's editorial campaign for a fair tax system for Nebraska farmers.

The award is a part of DeKalb's "Oscars" in Agriculture program. The 3-year-old program also honors a radio or television station and a newspaper for superior contributions.

Reduction Is Approved Of Car Liability Rates For Insurance Firms

A reduction in automobile liability rates for insurance companies in Nebraska belonging to or subscribers of the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau have been approved by State Insurance Director Frank Barrett.

The rate change is based on accident records in 1960 and 1961. They mean a 7% reduction in bodily injury liability rates and a 7.2% reduction in property damage liability rates for private passenger cars.

The new rates, effective Wednesday apply to new policies and existing policies as they are renewed.

South Cuts Down Pace

Crete (A)—Head coach Ollie Smith of Hastings said there was a perceptible slowdown in practice by his South Shrine high school football squad Tuesday.

He said this was due probably to sore muscles after the opening of practice Monday and because "newness of the first day was over."

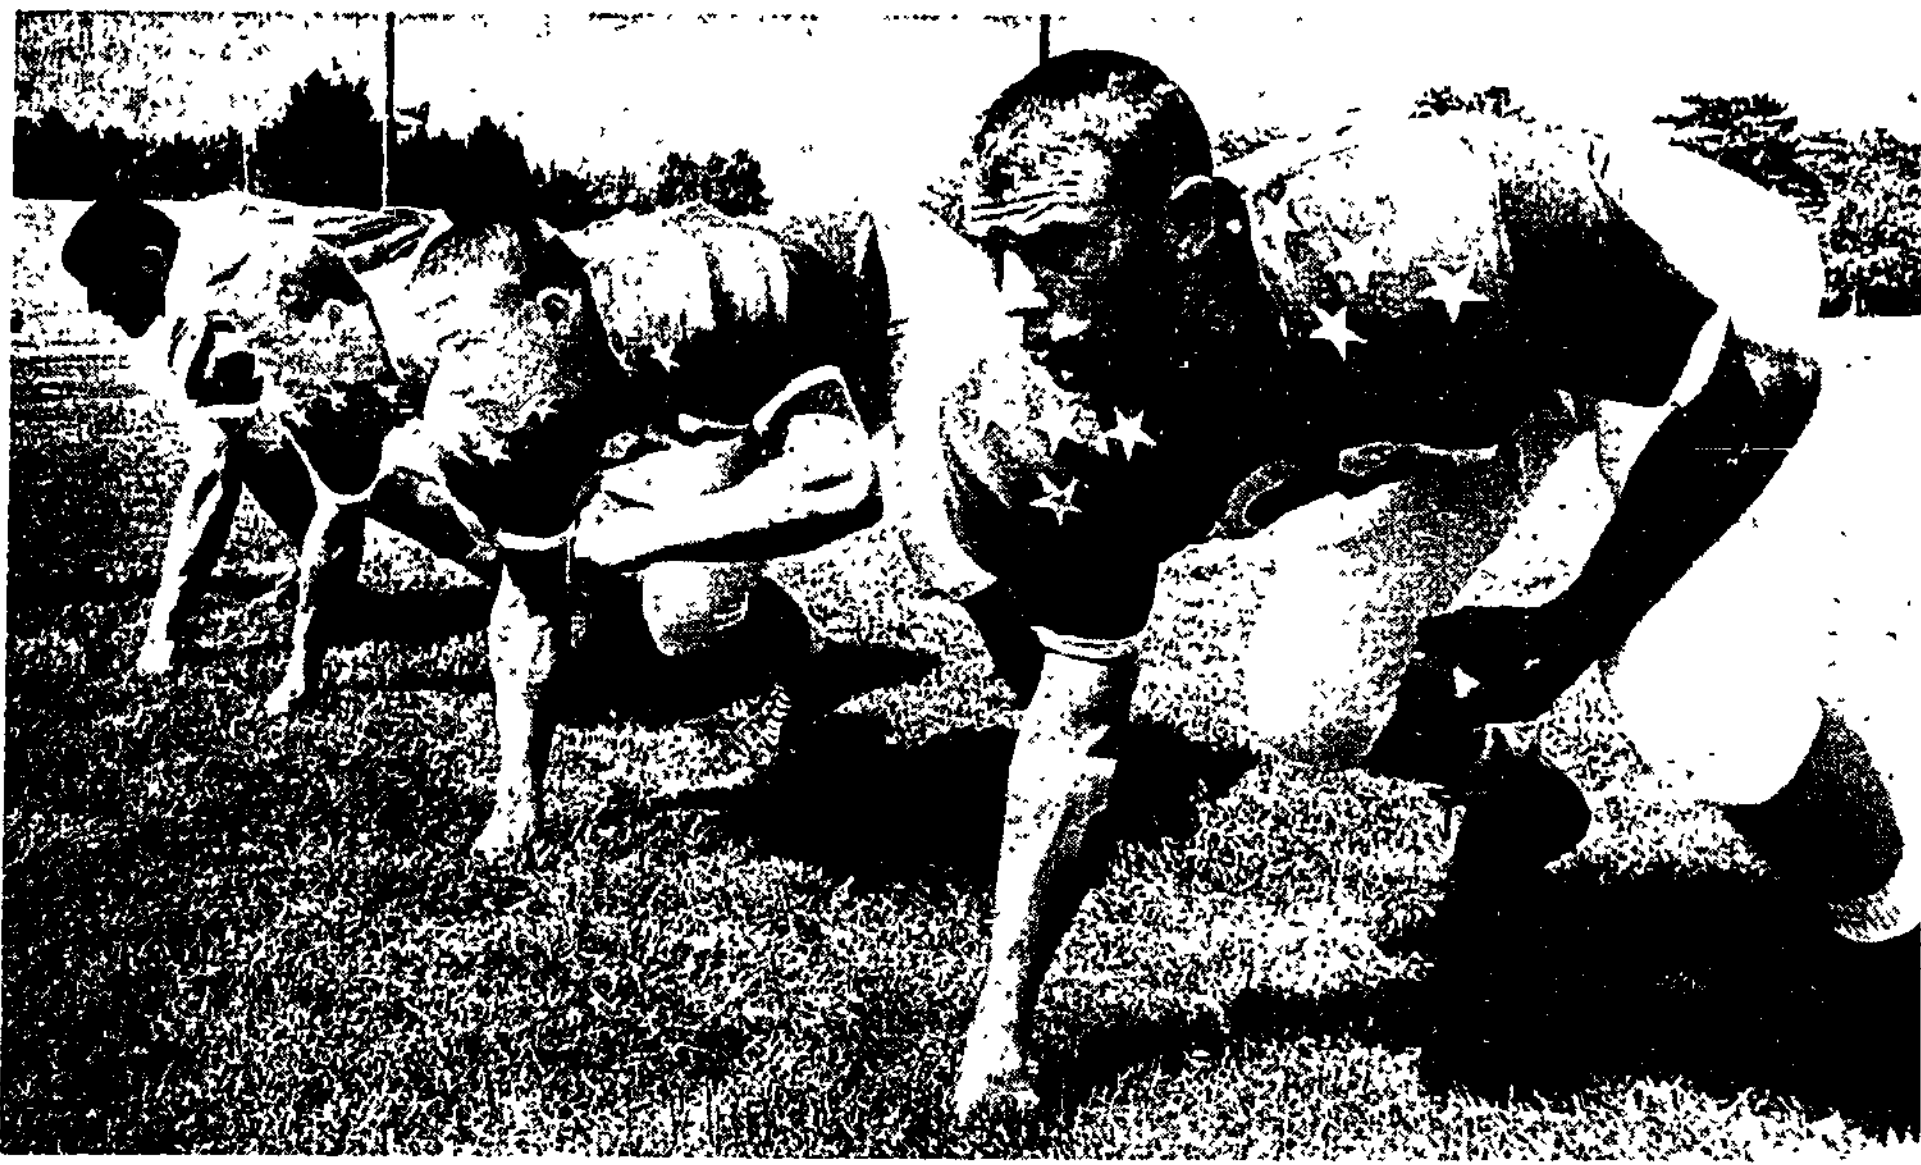

Smith said he was pleased with the line work of Rex Sweetwood, center from Omaha South; Louie Burgher, end from McCook, and Ladd Longquist, guard from Lincoln Plus X.

Backs praised by the coach were Kaye Carstens of Fairbury, Denny Thorrell of Loomis, Bob Grant of Omaha Westside and Bill Dodd of Omaha Central.

Coch Praises Three

Fremont (A)—Three players attracted the attention of head coach Dick Christie as the North Shrine Bowl football squad went through its second day of drills Tuesday.

The coach was pleased with the work of Robert Groene of Ashland as a corner linebacker and the pass receiving of Ricky Davis, a back from Omaha North, and Terry Edwards, an end from Omaha Tech.

Sellouts In Store For NU

An all-time high season ticket order presumably will create sellouts for all of Nebraska's home football games with the exception of South Dakota State and even that one could become one.

The season ticket sale "appears to be over 15,000" ticket manager Jim Pittenger said Wednesday.

This 15,000 coupled with other commitments would assure 26,550 sales before the first kickoff.

This leaves only 4,500 single game orders available and Pittenger said the flood of requests for those appears to have exceeded that figure already for all games save the Sept. 21 opener with South Dakota State.

These figures are based on the Memorial Stadium permanent seating of 30,917 and does not include the 6,570 temporary seating that will be used.

These bleacher seats in the past have been placed on sale the week of the individual games, but Pittenger pointed out that he and Athletic Director Tippy Dye might change that policy after more study.

The "other commitments" in addition to the season ticket sale include student sales (approximately 7,550), faculty sales (approximately 1,500), visiting allotments (approximately 2,000) and miscellaneous demands (approximately 500).

The reason for the lack of specific figures is easily explained by a trip to the ticket office where the staff of 5 resembles an ant hill.

Pittenger said he has been discouraging further requests for all games but South Dakota, but that the office naturally will still take them.

All requests are placed in a chronological file and early requests will be filled first.

The 15,000 sale would be a record by far. In fact, John Selleck, former business manager of the athletic office and later comptroller in the general finance office of the university, said he didn't recall any year greater than last year's 10,500 public sale.

Pittenger said the South Dakota State game could become a sell out since the other games went under so early this year.

Cornhusker home games, in addition to South Dakota State, are Iowa State (Oct. 5), Air Force Academy (Band Day, Oct. 12), Colorado (Homecoming, Oct. 26), Kansas U. (Parents Day, Nov. 9) and Oklahoma (Nov. 23).

Thunder Helped Kill Dragon

'WE KILLED DRAGON,' ALL-STARS CHANT
That was the large 8-column black headline that graced the No. 1 sports page of the Chicago Tribune Saturday morning after the College All-Stars had upset Green Bay, 20-17, in the annual charity game sponsored by the Chicago paper.

And the words, "We Killed Dragon" were taken directly from the mouth of a former Cornhusker griddler, Bill (Thunder) Thornton.

The Tribune's headline writer pulled the headline from the second and 3rd paragraphs of the Tribune story which read:

As they burst thru the doors of the locker room the tension snapped.

Bill Thornton let go a tremendous whoop: "We killed a dragon." Louder and louder he kept shouting it: "We killed a dragon."

The former Husker's enthusiasm was well-founded for he had played a key role in the stunning upset of the National Football League champions and thus same enthusiasm, carried over to the St. Louis Cardinals football camp, could go a long way in earning Thornton a berth with the NFL club.

Streamlining For Sooners

Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson is seeking a more streamlined unit for his squad this year and has asked many of the Sooners gridders to cut down their weight from a year ago.

This includes even Ralph Neely, an all-American candidate at tackle who has been asked to trim his playing weight 11 pounds to 235. The Sooners coaches are trying to get more speed out of the huge tackle whose displacements last year were 6-5 and 246 pounds.

Another key performer who will report back lighter is fullback Jim Grisham, who has been asked to trim his 205 weight to 198 by the time camp opens.

Actually all the Sooners players were asked to hit the required weight by last Thursday despite the fact that camp doesn't open for another month.

"It is possible for a big flabby player to report back in pretty good condition but he still wouldn't be able to move," explains OU trainer Ken Rawlinson.

Interest Gaining In Minnesota Trip

If interest continues to grow in the Nebraska-Minnesota grid contest slated for Minneapolis Sept. 28, the Huskers will be backed by a large rooting section for its contest with the Big 10 rival.

Several groups have made plans for an organized trip to the Gopher contest and more are being organized as the game draws nearer.

The Nebraska Alumni Association is working on an air charter to the game on a first-come, first-served basis. The first plane has seats for 44 fans and when they are filled a waiting list will be set up for a second plane.

Persons interested in the chartered plane trip may get further information from Mrs. Harriet Coble of the Nebraska Alumni Association at 238 Nebraska Union, 14th and R Street in Lincoln.

Testifies That Plays Revealed

. . . 'HELPFUL TO OPPONENT'

Atlanta (A)—Georgia football Coach Johnny Griffith testified Tuesday that information allegedly passed to a rival coach disclosed the only two playing formations employed by his squad in their 1962 opener against Alabama.

Griffith took the stand as a witness for Curtis Publishing Co., in its defense against a $10 million libel suit by Wally Butts, former Georgia athletic director. The Saturday Evening Post, published by Curtis, has charged that Butts gave Georgia football secrets to Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama.

Griffith was questioned about notes allegedly taken by an insurance salesman who said he overheard Butts give information to Bryant in a telephone conversation last September.

Some of the terminology in the notes was that used by Butts during his coaching career at Georgia, Griffith said.

However, on cross-examination, the coach said a description for one of the plays involved was used during his first year as head coach in 1961. He also testified that neither of the two formations was new but that both had been employed in previous seasons.

Helpful To Foe
Griffith said in his opinion it would be helpful to an opponent to know that Georgia would use only the two formations described in the notes.

Questioned by Butts' attorney, Griffith said that Butts gave him his first coaching job at Georgia and lent him money and signed bank notes for him.

The coach said he had repaid what he owed Butts except for $350. Griffith said Butts was always anxious to help and make bank payments when Griffith was in arrears.

Butts' attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., attacked Griffith's testimony in an attempt to show that the Georgia team was not prepared for the game against Alabama.

First 3 TDs
Going over the scoring plays—Alabama won 35-0—Griffith admitted that the first 3 touchdowns were scored because of errors or weakness on the part of Georgia players.

"I didn't think we played well," Griffith said.

Griffith testified that some of the notes meant nothing to him, some of them were not important and others were not true. He also denied several quotations attributed to him in the magazine article.

"I made the statement that I figured somebody had been giving information to Alabama," Griffith said. But he denied a quote from the Post which said: "We had no idea it was Wally Butts."

Griffith also denied saying, as quoted by the Post, that he told university officials he would resign if Butts were permitted to remain in his job as athletic director.

Knew Plays
During the game, Griffith said some of his players said the Alabama men knew what plays Georgia was running and "were even calling out our plays and what we're going to do."

Hastings —Jittery Lincoln Gerry's suffered its first loss in State Legion Tourney action Tuesday night as Omaha Storz came from behind for a 7-6 decision.

The win puts Storz into the final round against the winner of tonight's Gerry's-Omaha Pepsi game.

Storz broke a 5-5 deadlock in the 9th inning off starter Rich Schwabauer and reliever Mick Zangari. Bob Olsen led off the big inning by singling.

Schwabauer struck out Tim Boltz, but Chris Riddle's double play ground ball was bobbled by shortstop Bob McKay and his wild throw put runners on second and 3rd.

Zangari came in to face rookie Taylor who singled off Zangari's glove into center field to drive in two runs.

Zangari then fanned Bob Churchich and Tom Lewis.

Gerry's came back for one run in their half of the 9th as Walter Fras reached base on an error and scored on Alex Walter's single. But H. Bob Davis escaped without further damage.

Gerry's jumped to a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning when Schwabauer singled home one run and batterymate Bob White two more.

Storz scored twice in the second and once in the 3rd to tie the count.

Zangari's two-run single gave Gerry's a 5-3 lead in the 4th but Storz added single runs in the 6th and 8th.

Schwabauer was plagued by his own wildness as well as poor support. He uncorked 3 wild pitches, one of which allowed a run to score. Errors came in the second, 3rd and 9th innings by Gerry's.

Davis came on in relief of Mike Hansen in the 7th inning with two men on base. He stopped a budding Gerry's rally by getting Walters to fly out and McKay to ground out.

Gerry's coach Dave Myers plans to send ace southpaw Bob Hergenrader against Pepsi tonight at 8.

Romjue Has Men's Lead

. . . TORRID 68 LEADS BY 5

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Larry Romjue finished like a golfer trying to beat the darkness—Which he did—Tuesday in the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament.

Romjue finished well ahead of the darkness that handicapped some of the 224 golfers as he roared through the Hillcrest Country Club course with a 4-under-par 68 and a 5-stroke lead going into today's second round at Pioneers.

The Nebraska City native toured the front 9 in about the same fashion that Lincoln's other top golfers did Tuesday, but he picked up the pace on the back 9 with a 5-under-par 31 to go with his front 9 of 37.

Finished With Eagle
Romjue acquired the 31 with the help of 3 birdies and an eagle. His eagle came on the par 5, 443-yard 18th hole and came on the heels of a birdie 3 on the 396-yard 17th.

Romjue's other birdies were on the par 4, 407-yard 10th and the par 3, 144-yard 12th. His only bogey of the day came on the 8th hole, a par 3, 157-yarder.

The final 15 golfers to get off the tee Tuesday had to finish their rounds in darkness and scorers needed flashlights to record the totals.

Fog Slows Play
An early-morning fog slowed the golfers for awhile, but most of the time had been made up by mid-afternoon. However, the large entry list ran the golfers well into darkness with the last threesome finishing at 8:25.

The golfers will play with the same threesome today with the same tee off times, but Pioneers will be the site instead of Hillcrest.

Golfers will be divided into flights after today's 18 holes with flights being decided on the basis of 36-hole totals. The top 17½ will go into the championship flight.

All flight winners will be decided Thursday at the Lincoln Country Club, with the exception of the championship group. These golfers will return to Hillcrest for a final 18 holes Friday. If ties develop for first place in the lower flights, they will be decided by 18-hole playoffs at Hillcrest Friday.

Early Leaders
Tuesday's early leaders—Ray Wallasky, Ed Smith and Gene Chadwell—had finished their rounds well before Romjue came blazing in to take over the lead.

Wallasky, Smith and Chadwell all shot 73s—good enough for a tie for the second spot after the first 18 holes.

Five others are 6 strokes back of the leader with 71s.

At this total are Bob Lau Jr., Ed Dosek, Tom Ludwig, Vern Strauch, and Sam Beechner. Three of the early favorites—Low Sheary, Matt Taber and Charles Bonner Jr.—ran into troubles Tuesday and must make up considerable ground to overtake Romjue.

Defending Champion
Taber, the defending champion, carded a 78, while Bonner, who finished second in the state meet, and Sheary are 8 strokes back of Romjue at 76.

However, the leader is not counting his prizes yet.

"In a 72-hole tournament, one bad round doesn't put you out of it," Romjue said, after finishing his round. "And a fellow like Matt (Taber) will relax now and just might shoot a 66 or 65. I'm just glad I shot as well as I did today and hope I can hold the lead."

Romjue's score equalled that recorded by Arnie Palmer in an exhibition over the Hillcrest course a week ago, and the 68 established the young golfer as the man they have to catch in the next 3 days.

Wahoo (A)—Duane Eichorn of the Lincoln Chiefs blanked the Lincoln Moose, 4-0, in the second round of the Nebraska Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament Tuesday on one hit.

Eichorn had a no-hitter until the 8th. Then Tom Sears was hit on the hand by a pitch. He had to leave the game with Harold Kelly coming in as a pinch-hitter. Kelly then got an infield hit off the 3rd baseman's glove.

Eichorn got the run he needed to win when he homered in the 3rd.

Early Leaders
Tuesday's early leaders—Ray Wallasky, Ed Smith and Gene Chadwell—had finished their rounds well before Romjue came blazing in to take over the lead.

Wallasky, Smith and Chadwell all shot 73s—good enough for a tie for the second spot after the first 18 holes.

Five others are 6 strokes back of the leader with 74s.

At this total are Bob Lau Jr., Ed Dosek, Tom Ludwig, Vern Strauch, and Sam Beechner.

Three of the early favorites—Low Sheary, Matt Taber and Charles Borner Jr.—ran into troubles Tuesday and must make up considerable ground to overtake Romjue.

Defending Champion

Taber, the defending champion, carded a 78, while Borner, who finished second in the state meet, and Sheary are 8 strokes back of Romjue at 76.

However, the leader is not counting his prizes yet.

"In a 72-hole tournament, one bad round doesn't put you out of it," Romjue said, after finishing his round. "And a fellow like Matt (Taber) will relax now and just might shoot a 66 or 65. I'm just glad I shot as well as I did today and hope I can hold the lead."

Romjue's score equalled that recorded by Arnie Palmer in an exhibition over the Hillcrest course a week ago, and the 68 established the young golfer as the man they have to catch in the next 3 days.

Eichorn Gives Up Only 1 Hit

Wahoo (AP)—Duane Eichorn of the Lincoln Chiefs blanked the Lincoln Moose, 4-0, in the second round of the Nebraska Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament Tuesday on a hit.

Eichorn had a no-hitter until the 8th. Then Tom Sears was hit on the hand by a pitch. He had to leave the game with Harold Kelly coming in as a pinch-hitter. Kelly then got an infield hit off the 3rd baseman's glove.

Eichorn got the run he needed to win when he homered in the 3rd.

Shantz' Relief Sparks Cards

REDBIRDS NIP METS

By United Press International
Little Bobby Shantz checked an 8th inning threat and went on to preserve Ron Taylor's 6th victory of the season Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets.

It was the Mets' 15th defeat in their last 17 starts.
The Cardinals scored the winning run off starter Galen Cisco in the 5th inning when Dick Groat singled, went to second when Bill White walked, and came around on Ken Boyer's single.

Shantz took over with one out and one in the 8th inning and retired the side with the help of his own excellent fielding play on Joe Christopfer's slow grounder. The loss was Cisco's 10th against 7 wins.

Three-hit pitching by Southpaw Dennis Bennett enabled the Philadelphia Phillies to beat Cincinnati, 7-1, in the second game of a double-header after the Reds had taken the 10-inning opener, 6-4. Bennett was supported by a hitting attack that included 3 doubles by Johnny Callison and the lone run off him came on Gene Freese's 5th homer. Cincinnati scored once in the 9th inning of the first game to tie the score and won it in the 10th on a key double by Johnny Edwards.

Don Cardwell gave only 4 hits but needed 9th inning relief from Alvin McBean to earn a 3-0 victory for the Pittsburgh Pirates over Milwaukee. The Pirates scored all their runs in the 7th inning, the big blow being a double by Donn Clendenon.

The San Francisco Giants got strong pitching from Jim Duffalo and Don Larsen to beat the Houston Colts, 3-1 and snap a 4-game losing streak in the Houston park. Duffalo was lifted in the 9th after giving up a leadoff single to Jim Wynn and Larsen came in to retire the side. A triple by Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly gave the Giants their winning run in the 4th.

In the only day contest, Maury Wills got 4 hits to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Don Drysdale blanked the Cubs until the 6th to earn his 14th win and his 4th in 5 starts against Chicago. It was the Dodgers' 3rd straight victory.

Cubs starter Larry Jackson took his 10th loss and needed relief from Tom Baker and Don Elston in the 7th after the Dodgers had tallied all their runs on 8 hits. It was Jackson's 3rd loss to the Dodgers without a victory this season. Wills' sacrifice fly in the first inning and singled in the 7th to drive in Marv Breeding. Ron Fairly hit his 11th homer, and the Dodgers got a single run in the 5th on a walk and two singles.

NY Splits With Nats

By United Press International
Stan Williams of the New York Yankees pitched a one-hit, 1-0 shutout after the Washington Senators had beaten Whitey Ford for the first time in more than 3 years, 8-5, in the opener of a doubleheader Tuesday night.

A 3rd-inning double by Don Blasingame was the only hit Williams allowed in the nightcap. The strapping right-hander struck out 11, walked but one, and after Blasingame's solid hit, retired the last 19 Washington batters in a row.

Tony Kubek got Williams the run he needed in the 8th when he tripled off Bennie Daniels and scored on Bobby Richardson's sacrifice fly.

The Baltimore Orioles scored 5 runs in the first inning uprisings. Robin Roberts, with relief help from Stu Miller, picked up his 5th straight victory.

The Detroit Tigers ripped 3 Boston Red Sox pitchers for 16 hits in rolling to a 10-1 victory. George Smith, playing in only his second major league game, sparked Detroit's attack with two doubles and a triple. Frank Lary, although nicked for 9 hits, went the route for the Tigers.

Pinch-hitter George Alusik singled home the winning run in the bottom of the 9th inning as the Kansas City Athletics nipped the Chicago White Sox, 4-3. Diego Segui was working on a one-hit shutout when the White Sox exploded for 3 runs in the top of the 9th to tie the score at 3-all with the help of a two-run homer by Charlie Maxwell.

The Minnesota Twins defeated the Los Angeles Angels, 5-1, behind the strong pitching of Lee Stange.

NO LOSSES FOR THIS CLUB

University Place's Team #3 boasts a perfect record for this summer's Little League season. The 8 and 9-year-old youngsters are coached by Norman Dreeszen and managed by Harold Suez. Chinese Reds Never Liked Russians

(EDITOR'S NOTE: William L. Ryan, Associated Press special correspondent, in his second article in a 5-part series on the Red split, tells why the Chinese never did care too much for the Russians.)

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

If the Chinese Communist leaders make it plain they detest Nikita Khrushchev, that is nothing new.

Peking's leaders never cared much for Stalin, either. And Chinese don't like Russians. The cement of communism is too weak to hold them together.

Conflicts between Russians and Chinese go back for centuries. The violent verbal dust storm kicked up over questions of ideology hides far deeper quarrels.

Dominance
"If ever there is a final split between the Russian and Chinese Communists," an old China hand told me years ago in Southeast Asia, "it will not be over ideology. It will be over domination of Asia. It is not in Chinese nature to accept outside domination."

The Czars were determined imperialists and colonialists, often at the expense of the expense of the Chinese. Much of what is now Soviet Central Asia was taken from northern China by the Russian Czars. Russian-Chinese clashes dot the history of the Manchu Dynasty since the first Russian ambassador was accredited there in 1675.

Brief Power
After the Bolsheviks seized power in 1917, there was a brief fever to free subject peoples. It burned itself out quickly. The Russian Bear soon was clawing about for more money.

The Chinese Communist Party (the KCT, or Kung Chan Tang) was born in 1920. It was wholly a creature of Moscow, dominated by the famed Mikhail Borodin, agent of Stalin's Comintern, and a man named Nguyen Than — later known as Ho Chi Minh, the Red master of North Viet Nam.

Stalin ordered the Chinese Communists to join a national front with the Kuomintang headed by Chiang Kai-Shek.

In 1927, the Chinese announced discovery of a deep plot to deliver China into Communist hands. Chiang broke relations with Moscow, sent Borodin packing and purged Communists from the Kuomintang.

Mobilized
Soviet troops mobilized near the Chinese border, occupied several Chinese towns, and made threatening gestures. Still weak, China capitulated. Revolt against the Soviet Communists stirred inside the Chinese party.

Pro-Moscow elements tried to seize the party. Stalin ordered proclamation of a Soviet Republic of China. This was done at Kiangsi in 1931, with Mao Tse-tung as chairman. But Mao later undertook his famed "long march" from Kiangsi to Yenan, there to set up a capital and prepare for the revolution — developing his party out of reach of the Kremlin's long arm.

Ordered To Unite
The Comintern ordered Mao's party to unite with Chiang against the Japanese. Ostensibly it did as it was told. But it worked from the rear, undermining Chiang. And by 1942 Mao was strong enough to defy the Russians.

Mao moved against Moscow's puppets. He threw out Wang Ming and other pro-Soviet elements.

Stalin was angry. He told a Yugoslav Communist leader at the time he had ordered the Chinese comrades to give up their insurrection because it had no prospects. He seemed to feel Chinese Communists had doublecrossed him.

But the Chinese Communists pushed on to victory in late 1949. Stalin summoned Mao to Moscow to sign a mutual assistance treaty. Mao was obliged, among other things, to recognize the final separation of outer Mongolia — first a Czarist then a Soviet satellite — from China. This has rankled ever since in the Red Chinese breast.

New Strains
The Korean War and Chinese intervention in it brought clear indications of new Chinese-Soviet strains over influence in Asia. The strains persisted after Stalin's death.

Early in 1956, Khrushchev, in a speech to the 20th Soviet Communist Party Congress, blasted the image of Stalin and sent a violent shock wave through the Communist world. Hungary revolted.

This turn of events startled the Red Chinese. Events like that could do irreparable damage to the whole world Communist movement and thus even spell danger to the Peking regime.

For a time, Peking and Moscow moved closer together in the face of a common danger.

But once the danger seemed past, the bickering began all over again.

This time the bickering was destined to burgeon into a scrap over who — Mao or Khrushchev — should wield the greater influence.

Next: The battle gets warm.

In the warm Madrid morning, I went through Customs at the airport and climbed aboard the TWA jet. Home, sweet home!

American coffee! A merica n cigar ettes! American sandwiches at 26,000 sky-blue feet over the Mediterranean.

The plane had left Idlewild 7 hours before. The ink was hardly dry on the New York papers. (I have been reading "The Lighthouse of Vigo" for 7 weeks. And I have lost the continuity on the comics.) More coffee? I thank you, Miss America of August, 1963. You and your fountain of coffee in the sky.

It is an hour and three-quarters from Madrid to Rome. And nearly that far from the new Rome airport to the city of the Caesars.

I checked in at the new Cavalieri Hilton. The balconied, brick hotel sits on top of Monte Mario looking down toward the Tiber and the Borghese gardens. It has a turquoise swimming pool at its feet. An American menu and electronically geared elevators and telephones.

The death of the last Pope came just at the time of opening. And the formal, all-stops-pulled, Hilton opening fracas was postponed.

There was a phone call from Irving Hoffman, that wandering blade of Broadway. When I called him at the Excelsior, he said to come right over.

"I have all the information on Rome you will ever need," said Irving.

"Have a martini," said Irving.

"You mean a real martini?" I said wistfully. "For 7 weeks I've been smashing Spanish gin over ice. Pretending it was a martini."

"Hemingway rubbed it on his cuts and bruises," said Hoffman, consulting the notes he carried in a Gladstone bag. "However, that is Spain material. The important thing to do here is eat on the sidewalk."

Irving said the sidewalk restaurant has become the posh thing to do in Rome. "Not like Doney's for coffee. A real restaurant."

We went over to the Cafe Flavia in the Via Flavia and got a table. It was a narrow sidewalk.

"The other night when I was here," said Irving, "they were so full they moved tables into the street. I said to the proprietor, 'Isn't it against the law?' He said, 'Everything is against the law.'"

"Now," said Hoffman, "I cased the new Hilton for you. They've got one suite that goes for $170 a day. There's a Texan in there now. He hired a Hawaiian orchestra to entertain him — Italian-Hawaiian."

"When he went out for the day, the leader asked him: 'Signor, what shall we do while you are gone?' The Texan was stumped. He said, 'You-all just go on playin' until I come back.' You like that one?" asked Irving.

We had fettuccine and prosciutto — the thin sliced ham — with ripe figs.

We had white wine from Sicily — (my cup runneth over) — and sliced mushrooms so large that one slice covered a plate.

The sidewalk was doing well. And the waiters ran along the gutters to serve you.

"Now this sidewalk bit has a racket," said Hoffman. "There are handits on scooters. They ease the place — where somebody hangs her handbag on the back of the chair. They scoot into the street. Grab it and scoot off. How do you like that?"

I ordered that Roman Sweet specialty called Monte Bianco — all topped with cream.

"And how are Americans doing in this Eternal City?" I asked.

Irving dug into the Gladstone and got out a folder from the United States Travel Service.

"We keep talking about changing the image and all that," he said. "But we always come out with the wild West."

The folder was covered with men firing from stage coaches. And it said: "Dove sono i Cowboys e gli Indiani?" — Where are the cowboys and Indians?

It looked just like TV. It looked good is what I mean. Home, sweet home.

Late Buying Aids Stocks

New York (AP) — The stock market rally cruised through a third straight session Tuesday, setting off enthusiasm over the possible arrival of the long-awaited traditional summer rally.

It was a good performance with a late spurt more than wiping out the damage of a mid-afternoon sinking spell.

The late buying moved prices to their best levels after a flurry of profit-taking.

Advancers of key issues ranged from fractions to a point or more with a few high prices notably pulling out of a temporary setback and registering gains up to a point.

The Associated Press average of 30 stocks advanced 1.3 to 27.5 with industry up 1.5, utilities up .7 and utilities up .5 based on the action of this industry.

An estimated $1.9 billion was added to the Dow Jones index of stocks based on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, with 30 of its 30 components being traded, advanced 1.3 to 707.86.

Volume increased to 3.77 million shares from 3.3 million Monday.

Futures Market

Chicago (AP) — The first crop report of the month imparted weakness to the grain futures market Tuesday, particularly soybeans, and prices were driven downward on the Board of Trade.

Soybeans lost more than 4 cents a bushel on a near-by month and about three cents on all others. Corn slipped mostly about a cent although September declined more.

Wheat was also weak, and oats little change.

At the close, wheat was 15 cent a bushel lower to 1.15, corn 15 cent lower to 1.15, soybeans 24 cent lower, September 24 cent lower, August 24 cent lower.

Negro Jobs Program OK'd

New York (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and 7 civil rights leaders agreed Tuesday night on a program to help provide more jobs for non-whites in construction.

But a spokesman for the civil rights leaders said no decision on whether to halt demonstrations would be made until the group conferred with other leaders.

Some 800 arrests have been made in recent weeks at construction sites in the city, mainly at the Downstate Medical Center site in Brooklyn.

CHECK CAUSE OF FIRE

Fireman Wilford Meyers, right, is shown inspecting newspapers apparently used by two children to start a fire in a vacant house at 309 So. 20th. According to officials, the fire began when the youths were playing with matches in the room. Flames were pouring out of an upstairs window when firemen arrived. No estimate of damage was immediately given. The other fireman pictured was not identified.

USSR Says Red China Favors 'Atom Poison'

Hiroshima, Japan (AP)—The Soviet Union Tuesday charged Communist China with wanting to spread nuclear poison in the air and China hit back by accusing the Russians of selling out and surrendering to the United States.

The angry exchange came at the now-splintered ban-the-bomb conference between the chief delegates of the two communist giants. It contrasted sharply with solemn ceremonies marking the 18th anniversary of the dropping of the first atomic bomb on this city.

Survivors said they took hope from the signing in Moscow of a partial nuclear test ban treaty—the same treaty the Chinese and Soviet delegates fought so bitterly about at the conference.

Dressed In Black
"It is true that the pact still leaves some fundamental problems unsettled," said Mayor Shinzo Hamai, dressed in mourning black, as a swarm of peace doves wheeled in the air.

"Nevertheless, we attach great significance to it as a fulfillment of our earnest wish that a step forward be taken toward an ultimate realization of a total ban."

The Hiroshima Peace Bell tolled and a crowd of 15,000 stood silent in homage to the first victims of an atomic bomb. It was exactly 8:15 a.m.—the time to the minute when the U.S. B29 Enola Gay dropped the bomb on Aug. 6, 1945.

Peaceful
The ceremonies in Peace Park were peaceful and reverent, but not so the wrangling at the ninth Conference against Hydrogen and Atomic Weapons from which some non-communist delegations have already walked out.

Yuri Zhukov, burly chief commentator for Pravda, said Chinese opposition to the treaty meant Peking favored continued pollution of the at-

Judges Opening Records

... UNDER LB567

Juvenile Court judges in Lancaster and Douglas Counties Tuesday ordered peace officers to open all records to news media in the wake of much ado about a bill passed by the 1963 Legislature.

The bill, LB567, leaves the disclosure of Juvenile Court records to the discretion of the juvenile judge involved.

Orders were issued by Lancaster Judge W. W. Nuernberger and Douglas Judge Seward Hart.

Public Interest

Hart said he thought the public interest would be served by making news concerning youths available to the public.

Other judges are expected to follow suit.

Earlier, Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha urged Gov. Frank Morrison to take "positive action" to change the new law so as to open juvenile records to the press.

But Morrison said the bill "should be given a two-year trial" and that he does not intend to add it to the expected call for a special legislative session later this year.

Surprised

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala expressed surprise at "so much furor" over the law, noting that "we are trying to get more modern and better treatment for juveniles."

McGinley said "a judge should have the right to withhold information if it is in the interest of the juvenile or his family."

Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln said she sees no danger in the law, pointing to the fact that "we have the escape valve in that the Juvenile Court judge can release information."

But Sen. W. H. Hasebrook of West Point said he believes the state is "heading for trouble" if juvenile crime news were to be suppressed.

Nuernberger Rules Juvenile Records Will Be Kept Open

Lancaster Juvenile Court Judge W. W. Nuernberger ruled Tuesday that juvenile records would continue to be available to the press and civic groups as they were prior to the passage of LB567.

In his order, Judge Nuernberger stated that "it is in the best interests of all juveniles and the general public that the information on peace officers' records continue to be made available to the various news media and civic groups the same as it has in the past."

Judge Nuernberger said he was exercising the authority granted him in the bill to make the records available by order of the court because past relations with the news media had been "very satisfactory."

He pointed out that the public has a right to know and be aware of the juvenile problem within the county and to be informed of the activity of the court which it supports.

Judge Nuernberger stated he thought the intent of the bill was not to change the relationship with the press, but to eliminate general public access to the records for mere curiosity.

State's Job Picture Not So Rosy Now

Although Nebraska's employment picture reflected a seasonal June upswing to 632,100 people at work, it was still less rosy than the June 1962 figure of 666,900 on pay-rolls.

The 24,800 gap, according to the State Labor Department's monthly report, "stemmed mainly from a large decrease of 20,000 in the number of agricultural workers."

Decreasing 3,000 was the self-employed, unpaid family and domestic workers category, while nonfarm wage and salary workers fell back 1,800.

Ups And Downs
There were substantial fluctuations in some parts of the wage and salary segment of the state's employment picture.

Manufacturing dropped back 2,600, with other durable goods and meat showing the biggest year-to-year losses. Loss in transportation, communication and utilities employment was 1,100. The motor freight and warehousing sector accounted for most of the decrease.

June's 632,100 total was 10,700 above May's figure. The rise came from a seasonal increase of 11,000 workers in agriculture, while nonfarm employment fell 300.

Jobless Jump
Unemployment in June was attributed mainly to entrance of students into the labor force. June's unemployment rate jumped to 2.9% from May's 2.3%.

In the Lincoln metropolitan area, June's labor market did as expected—students and graduates entering the ranks of job-seekers helped reverse the unemployment downtrend.

Public Defenders Bill Passed

Washington (AP)—The Senate passed by voice vote Tuesday a bill to provide paid counsel for defendants in federal criminal cases who are financially unable to hire a lawyer.

The bill, strongly urged by President Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, now goes to the House.

Under it, salaried part-time or full-time public defenders could be appointed to represent indigent defendants or the government could pay private attorneys up to $15 an hour and reimburse them for expenses.

Appointed
Lawyers from private practice could be appointed either by the courts or furnished by bar association, legal aid societies, and similar organizations.

Each federal district court would be required to put a plan based on one or all of these optional systems into effect within one year. The plan of each district would be subject to approval by the judicial council for its circuit.

In addition to compensation for counsel, the bill provides for payment of investigators, expert witnesses and other services necessary to an adequate defense.

$3 Million A Year
The cost to the government has been estimated at about

$3 million a year, although the bill authorizes whatever appropriations may be necessary.

At present court-appointed attorneys are not paid for their services nor reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses.

The president said in submitting the measure to Congress that its enactment would be "a giant stride forward in removing the factor of financial resources from the balance of justice."

Similarly, the attorney general told the Senate Judiciary Committee that "to a serious extent, the scales of justice in this country are weighted against the poor."

Commissioners Set Tax Rate At 5 Mills

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County's 1963-64 fiscal year tax levy was set Tuesday at 5 mills—a half mill increase from the 4.50 mills which has been maintained since 1958.

The County Board indicated that cuts were made where ever possible to avoid raising the levy to 5.801 mills which would have been necessary had all requests been granted.

Board Chairman Ralph Harlan said he "couldn't see where we could cut any more without penalizing some department or individual."

The total amount of the budget to be raised by taxation is $1,247,231.

Liquor Permit Hearings Set For Aug. 20

Lancaster County commissioners Tuesday set 10 a.m. Aug. 20 for public hearing on 3 applications for liquor licenses.

C. Marvin and Dorothy Roberts have applied for a bottle club license at the Town and Country Restaurant, 3045 Adams.

They were previously unsuccessful in obtaining a beer license for that location.

Also seeking a bottle club license are Boyd and Majorie Waddle for East Hills Country Club at 70th and Sumner.

Hillcrest Country Club at 89th and O has made application for a nonprofit organization license.

Find Tallest Tree And You Get 200 Little Ones Free

Two-hundred trees will go to persons who find and report the largest tree of 10 species in Nebraska, the State Game Commission said Tuesday.

The commission said it, in cooperation with the Extension Service, is offering 200 young trees of the winners' choice as an incentive to people to assist in locating the top trees in the state.

The largest tree in Nebraska of the following species is being sought: cottonwood, American elm, hackberry, burr oak, black walnut, green ash, linden (basswood), honey locust, ponderosa pine and red cedar.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. Ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

3-Car Accident Injures Woman

A 3-car collision on South between 15th and 16th Tuesday slightly injured Sandra F. Clemenski, 18, of 2135 So. 61st. Mrs. Clemenski was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Clifford, 23. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

Police said other drivers involved in the mishap were Neil E. Overton, 34, of 2421 So. 35th and Danny D. Seaman, 16, of Rt. 7.

$4,500 Disparity Found In Platte County's Treasury

Columbus (A) — State Auditor Ray Johnson and two of his staff reported to the Platte County Board of Supervisors Tuesday that there were discrepancies of over $4,500 in the accounts of the county treasurer's office between December 1961 and July of 1963.

The report said someone in the treasurer's office had manipulated accounts or real estate and personal property taxes in such a way as to show in the county records that the taxes had been paid but the funds were never entered in the daily cash register of the treasurer's office.

Johnson's report added that

Children Not Allowed

Sydney, Australia (A) — A sign near the maternity ward in Sydney's Sutherland Hospital reads: "No children allowed on this floor."

checks from taxpayers from outside the county were used in nearly every instance, false receipts were sent to the taxpayer and checks were deposited in the treasurer's account and the exact amount then apparently taken from office cash on hand.

The record was then marked "paid" and the books apparently balanced.

White said County Treasurer Glenn Anderson early this year reported an irregularity in bookkeeping.

The county attorney added that he had evidence making him "certain that Treasurer Anderson was not personally involved."

He said he and Anderson had decided to wait for Johnson's report before proceeding further.

Crete Hospital Issue Okayed

Crete (P)—Crete voters approved, 520 to 221, Tuesday a $325,000 hospital expansion bond issue.

The bonds, coupled with anticipated money from Hill-Burton funds, will permit construction of a 40-bed addition, plus surgery rooms, physical therapy facilities and facilities for the care of senior citizens.

The bonds needed 60% approval and received 70% plus.

Mayor Awards 2 City Contracts

Two city purchase contracts were awarded on low bids Tuesday by Mayor Dean Petersen.

Marshall Nurseries of Arlington was low bidder at $3,670.78 for furnishing 715 trees of 28 species to the Park Department.

Gelhaar Uniform Co. of Kansas City, Mo., was awarded a $3,942 contract to supply police uniforms.
